Rescue 23 From Ocean

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—Shifting scrap iron cargo punched a hole in the bottom of a small Lebanese freighter and caused her to sink in the Atlantic Ocean early Saturday.

The 23 crew members of the Ethel C, all uninjured were landed here Saturday night. They spent nearly 13 hours on a raft and in one lifeboat after the vessel went to the bottom.

Thomas Gibson, 28, of West Hartlepool, England, the ship's radio operator, told newsmen "some of the cargo moved and made a hole in the bottom."

"I sent an urgency signal first and then the master immediately directed me to send an SOS because we were taking water so fast," Gibson said.

A member of the crew, Costas Moussouris of Cephallonia, Greece, said he heard the cargo move after 10 o'clock Friday night.

"A few minutes later," he said, "water came into the hold. We started the pumps and kept pumping until the ship went down.

"She went down fast. Before she went down, the whole crew stepped off the ship's ladder into one lifeboat and one raft. No one was hurt. No one got his feet w..."

Gibson said as the ship went down "there was a terrific explosion from the engine room. It blew the whole stern off."

The American skipper and his 22 foreign crewmen were picked up by the Coast Guard and brought here.

The 329-foot vessel radioed shortly after 1 a. m. she was taking water faster than the pumps could handle it and the crew was abandoning ship. She gave her position as 19 miles east of Cape Charles.

From that time the ship and its crew were unreported until a Navy search plane spotted the bobbing life raft with all 23 men about 2 p. m. Coast Guard vessels reached the scene soon after and took the men aboard. The position was given as 65 miles east northeast of Cape Charles.

The scrap iron-laden ship, bound for New York to Newport News, went down in calm water. I New York a spokesman for the shipping agent, Rohner, Gehrig Shipping Copr., said there was very little possibility the scrap iron cargo could have broken loose and shifted, causing the vessel to capsize. He noted it had been inspected by authorities before leaving New York.

During the day four ships, four airplanes and a helicopter had criss-crossed over a 5,544-square-mile area off the Virginia coast, seeking signs of wreckage and

Bloody Prints 'Big Break' In Ottawa Murders

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP) — Crime experts at Starved Rock State Park Saturday planned the most massive fingerprint investigation in Illinois state police annals.

Scores of men will be fingerprinted as investigators seek a match to the bloody prints found on the garments of two of the three Riverside, Ill., women slain in the park March 14.

State Police Supt. William Morris has called the finding of the fingerprints the "biggest break in the case thus far." He said he will ask for a technician from the state Bureau of Identification and Investigation to fly from Springfield to begin the long task Monday.

"We're going to take out time with this," Morris said. "We're in no hurry at all."

Morris said it would be the largest single fingerprint check in state police history.

Authorities are convinced the five or six prints are those of the bludgeon-killer of Mrs. Lillian Oetting, 50, Mrs. Frances Murphy, 47, and Mrs. Mildred Lindquist, 50. Their battered bodies were found in a shallow cave of St. Louis Canyon in the park March 16.

Morris said 85 or 90 employes of the park and the state Department of Conservation will be asked to submit their fingerprints at the special investigation headquarters near the park lodge.

From the lodge itself, about 25 male employes will be checked. No women employes will be asked for fingerprints, Morris said.

"We've already questioned them and cleared them," he explained. "We don't want to harass the women any more."

Morris said fingerprints will also be taken from men already questioned and cleared in the murder investigation.

He pointed out that taking of fingerprints is voluntary, and none can be taken without the subject's approval.

James Christensen, head of the state crime lab, said he is awaiting word from Morris before sending a technician to the park.

Meanwhile, Christensen said, "every attempt will be made to identify the fingerprints found on the garments."

Neither Christensen nor Morris could explain why the fingerprints weren't discovered until Friday, a month after the bodies were found.

In another phase of the investigation, police are seeking two men seen hitchhiking near the murder scene March 14.

The three women were believed to have been killed early in the afternoon that day, and the hitchhikers were reported seen by a Utica Farmer about 4 p.m.

Castro's Worries Grow

HAVANA (AP) — Opposition from inside and outside Cuba appeared Saturday to be giving Prime Minister Fidel Castro his gravest political headache since he came to power in January of 1959.

While most Cubans enjoyed a three-day Easter holiday at beaches or at home, advices from eastern Cuba said Castro is trudging muddy Oriente Province in pursuit of a guerrilla band.

The band of about 50 men is led by Manuel Beaton, a former captain in Castro's revolutionary army. He escaped from Havana military prison and took to the mountains of eastern Cuba where Castro launched his own rebellion.

The pro-Castro newspaper La Calle said a band of youths who hoped to join Beaton tried to raid a police post in Havana's suburbs to obtain arms but were beaten off. Four youths were reported arrested.

Castro's military agents were reported pressing a sweeping roundup of persons suspected of cooperating with the anti-Castro movements. Military intelligence

Nixon Holds Back On Farm Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon apparently is going to keep his new farm program under wraps until the Republican National Convention platform committee meets in July.

Nixon is reported to have told interested Republicans he feels bound to support the Eisenhower administration program in this session of Congress.

He is said to have added that he has no intention of permitting Deomcrats to start shooting at any policy differences he may have with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson until he comes within hailing distance of the presidential nomination he expects to get at the convention.

One of the obvious reasons why Nixon is reluctant to go into North Dakota to campaign for GOP Gov. John E. Davis in a special June 28 senatorial election is that he would be certain to face questions there on whether he backs Benson's lower price support ideas.

Service Of Holy Fire

Sandstorm Darkens Jerusalem After Flame-Carrying Rites

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP) — A sandstorm clouded the Holy Land Saturday, recalling to the minds of Easter pilgrims that when Jesus was crucified "there was darkness over the earth. And the sun was darkened."

The sandstorm was one of the worst in the memory of Jerusalem residents. It swept in from the south in midafternoon, shortly after the conclusion of a service of Holy Fire in the Church of the Holy Sepulcher.

The dust hung so heavily it veiled the domes and spires inside the walled old city, which usually form a stunning view.

A flame—symbolic of the message of Christ's Resurrection — was carried across the no man's land between two technically still warring nations, Jordan and Israel.

The flame was a torch lighted from Holy Fire which emerged from the Tomb of Christ. Greek Orthodox Christians, who live in Israel, took the lighted taper and raced across the no man's land to light lamps and candles in churches on the other side.

They were able to move back and forth across the armistice line only by special arrangements elaborately worked out among Israel, the United Nations, and Jordan.

On the Arab side the flame was carried to Christian villages all over Palestine. The Greeks lighted little oil lamps in which they would carry the flame all the way back to Athens.

Egyptians lighted their own lamps to carry the fire to Alexandria, Cairo and Upper Egypt.

This ancient custom of sending Holy Fire to distant points long has represented the spread of the gospel to the ends of the earth in the eyes of the Oriental Christians.

From early morning till early afternoon uncounted thousands packed the crumbling old church of the Holy Sepulcher. The service there was mainly for Oriental Christians — Orthodox Armenians Egyptians, Copts, Syrians and Orthodox Ethiopians. But hundreds of Western visitors crowded in also.

COX ORAL POLIO VACCINE 94 PER CENT EFFECTIVE

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Preliminary reports indicate the Cox oral vaccine, given to 338,083 Dade County residents in a mass campaign, is approximately 94 per cent effective in building immunity to polio.

Dr. M. Eugene Flipse of the University of Miami Medic School, codirector of the program, called the cherry-flavored liquid "the most potent polio vaccine ever used in this country."

The preliminary report was based on tests of blood samples taken from 175 persons before and after the vaccine. Eventually, blood samples of 4,500 persons will be analyzed.

World's Christians Unite To Hail Christ's Resurrection

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world's Christians, of many creeds and colors, united Sunday in celebrating the centuries-old but ever-radiant drama of Christ's Resurrection.

In lands everywhere, services of thanksgiving, processions and messages of joy hailed Christendom's greatest day.

Dawn's first light was the cue for voices of millions to rise in jubilant Easter hymns and for church bells to ring out with the joyful tidings.

Pilgrims from all over the world gathered in Jerusalem to hail the holy day.

In Vatican City, tourists and pilgrims mingled with Romans to hear the Easter Sunday message of Pope John XXIII.

The Pope arranged to celebrate an early Easter Sunday Mass in his private chapel and to participate in another Mass later in the day in St. Peter's.

Seoul's Easter sunrise service for Korean Christians and American servicemen was canceled. Demonstration jitters were blamed.

The Army chaplain's office there said the service was called off for "political reasons" but that soldiers would observe Easter at

Boy's Space Ideas Outweigh Dislike For Arithmetic

"Dear Astronaut. I am studying about space. I have been reading books about space but I don't see why astronauts need arithmetic. Do you think I need arithmetic?"

The answer came back last month from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Space Task Group, Langley Field, Va.

John A. Powers of the NASA public affairs office, wrote Robert:

"The astronauts asked me to tell you that they all feel you do need arithmetic, not only for future space work, but for any field that you may enter.

"They feel that young men such as yourself should study hard and learn all you can so that some day when you are a grown man you will be qualified to assume a position of responsibility."

The letter was delivered to Robert's school in nearby Marshallton.

How's Robert's arithmetic?

"He's a straight A pupil now," his third-grade teacher reported.

Inflation Curbed In Past Year, Committee Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—A cabinet committee headed by Vice President Richard M. Nixon reported Saturday that inflation has been effectively curbed in the past year. It can be held in check by firm and prudent government policies in the decade of great growth ahead, the report said.

The committee, which warned last June that inflationary hazards were high, said in its second report to President Eisenhower that a dramatic change has been achieved.

The White House made public the report, which seemed likely to become a basic Republican document in the presidential election campaign. Eisenhower called it "encouraging" in a statement which added:

"It reveals the substantial progress we have made in checking inflation and in creating favorable prospects for price stability and healthy economic growth.

"But the report is no cause for complacency. Both government and the public must be constantly alert to these problems."

The committee of eight administration leaders set up a year ago on Price Stabilization for Economic Growth credited the government's budget and borrowing policies with having done much to avert further price rises.

Its report also stressed that consumer prices have risen only 11 per cent in eight years—roughly the period of Eisenhower's incumbency.

Although some increase occurred last May and November, it said, the rise was "kept within narrow limits."

Violent Storms Sweep Midwest

Hail, Rain Accompany Tornadoes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Tornadoes, accompanied by hail and slashing rain, churned across the Midwest Saturday, tearing roofs from buildings and blowing railroad cars off their tracks.

A Waterloo, Iowa, motorist, Carl Mannel, 44, was killed when a tornado tipped a heavy truck trailer on top of his auto at a truck stop near Waterloo. A roof was blown off the filling station, injuring the owner.

Iowa state police reported heavy winds blew two railroad cars off the tracks about 15 miles south of Waterloo.

Two tornadoes were reported Saturday afternoon by residents of the Gentry-Denver area 40 miles northeast of St. Joseph in Northwestern Missouri.

"I couldn't hunt for a place to hide; I had to stay and answer the calls," said Mrs. Effie Gladstone, Gentry telephone operator. She said the tornado caused minor damage, and was ...panied by hail the size of baseballs.

Baseball-size hailstones also drummed the central Iowa community of Monroe 28 miles east of Des Moines, snapping power lines. Smaller hailstones piled 2 inches deep near Marshalltown, Iowa.

Some personal injuries were reported in auto accidents during heavy thunderstorms in central Indiana. The Weather Bureau said it received a report of a car p...t blown away by a funnel cloud which touched ground briefly near Indianapolis.

The Weather Bureau said the line of thunderstorms produced two funnel clouds in north central Indiana.

Tornado warnings were issued for portions of a nine-state area stretching from Oklahoma northeastward into Ohio.

More heavy rain washed Kansas and Missouri in the wake of Friday night's downpours which measured up to 8.10 inches at Pleasant Hill, south of Kansas City. Booneville, in north-central Missouri, was soaked by 2½ inches of rain in less than two hours before noon.

Streams and creeks ran out of their banks in west-central Missouri. U.S. Rt. 65 remained closed by highwater in the Sedalia area, where nearly 6 inches of rain fell Friday night.

In contrast to the summery weather pattern in the country's midsection, cold winds swept east-

Lightning, Hail, Winds Strike North Illinois

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Weather Bureau issued a tornado warning for northwestern Illinois and southwestern Wisconsin, but the threat ended in the evening with only minor damage in northern Illinois from hail, winds and lightning.

The Weather Bureau reported hail the size of golf balls coating the ground an inch deep in the Freeport area, but no damage was reported.

Canton reported an inch of rain fell within 35 minutes, accompanied by winds of gale force which blew down tree limbs and blocked roads.

Lightning knocked out electrical power for about 1½ hours early Saturday in some of Chicago's northwest suburbs. The lightning apparently struck power transmission lines.

A line of thunderstorms and showers was forecast for the rest of the night, extending from 60 miles west of Chicago northeast to the Elgin area. Gusts of 40 to 50 miles an hour were predicted for the Chicago area.

The Weather Bureau earlier had warned of the possibility of tornadoes and isolated damaging winds along with large hail until 7 p.m. in an area long the 120 miles south-southeast of a line from 40 miles west - southwest of Fort Dodge, Iowa, to Lone Rock, Wis.

Various Illinois communities, including Springfield, were drenched with nearly two inches of rain since Friday.

The Bureau said two stationary fronts were settled over Chicago, causing see-sawing tempreatures late Saturday. The Grant Park temperature jumped from 60 to 70 degrres in one hour Saturday afternoon.

Other lightning and wind activity, none serious, was reported at Freeport and Rock Island.

Believe Capsule From Discoverer Is Still In Orbit

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The capsule from the Discoverer XI satellite is "probably still in orbit," the Air Force announced Saturday night.

A spokesman said that the recovery force waiting for the instrumented capsule to fall into the sea near Hawaii "never had a chance" to snare it — because it didn't come down.

The Air Force said that it was the most succesful test in the Discoverer series to date.

Said a spokesman:

"Some unknown malfunction occurred at a critical point just after separation (of the capsule from the orbitting rocket which carried it aloft).

"Telemetry data indicates that the separated capsule is probably still in orbit."

Plans had called for the second stage of the Discoverer to make 17 passes around the earth, then pop out the 300-pound capsule on radio orders which would then drop by parachute into Hawaiian waters.

The Air Force said that the latest Discoverer was "exceptional in its performance, and it at first appeared that for the first time the re-entry vehicle would possibly land in the impact area."

Planes waiting to snare the falling capsule and a surface search force were ordered back to base when the capsule didn't descend as planned.

"Project officers were delighted with the information relayed to the earth from several experiments housed in the satellite," the Air Force said.

A spokesman said instruments in the satellite provided "excellent measurements which can be applied to the future design of satellites."

Radio signals were picked up by the recovery force as the casule flashed high overhead, apparently following its parent rocket in the north-south polar orbit.

The 11th effort to recover an orbitting object from space began at 12:31 p.m. Friday when the big rocket was launched at this missile base. Recovery of a capsule from orbit is considered a key step in learning how to send animals — and later a man — into space and back. Such a recovery has never been done.

The Discoverer was supposed to have ejected its scientific pay-

Ike Considers Plans, Problems For Summit Meet

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower made an extensive personal survey Saturday of plans and problems for the East-West summit conference in Paris, just a month away.

Eisenhower also gave his attention to next week's visit from President Charles de Gaulle of France — and to such assorted other matters as golf, baseball and Easter.

The vacationing chief executive and his son John, the assistant White House staff secretary, spent nearly two hours working on papers and memoranda dealing with summit conference preparations.

Maj. Eisenhower brought two pounches of documents when he flew down from Washington Friday. Father and son dug into them, then transferred their activities to the Augusta National Golf Club course.

Wayne Hawks, acting White House press secretary, reported to newsmen: "It was quite an extensive session in preparation for the summit conference."

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower, John and his wife, Barbara, and the three eldest Eisenhower grandchildren will join the Easter pilgrimage to Church Sunday morning. They are attending 11:15 a.m. services at Reid Memorial Presbyterian church.

Eisenhower will break his Dixie vacation Monday for a brief visit to Washington to preside at the opening of the American League baseball season. Washington plays Boston.

MENTAL TELEPATHY?

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Maybe there is something to mental telepathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Strong had good reason to think so Saturday when they got identical Easter cards, one from a son in Providence and the other from a daughter in California.

Gen. Ord Dies Of Heart Attack

He will be buried with military honors in the Ord family plot here at Arlington National Cemetery on Tuesday.

Ord, who was retired, was a direct descendant of James Ord, high born Englishman who came to Maryland early in the 19th century. On his mother's side, Ord decended from Colonial Gov. John Winthrop of Massachusetts.

Ft. Ord, Calif. is named after his grandfather, Gen. E.O.C. Ord, of Civil War fame.

Fingerprints On Ransom Note Offer Clue To Abductors

PARIS (AP)—Police seeking the kidnapers of 4-year-old Eric Peugeot have discovered a clear set of fingerprints on one of the ransom notes written to the boy's father, wealthy automaker Roland Peugeot.

Discovery of the prints was the first break in the case for police, who until now have had to work with little concrete evidence.

Police pressed a huge manhunt for the kidnapers, who released the boy unharmed early Friday on payment of ransom, total amount unreported. But police hate kept officially silent about their investigation.

It was reported, however, they found the prints on a letter written Peugeot Thursday afternoon telling him his son was all right and that he would be contacted later to arrange payment of ransom.

In other developments police inspectors questioned the night manager of a filling station near the spot where Eric was released. He reported seeing a woman deposit a boy on the widewalk at about the time Eric was set free.

His information, which coincided with many of the known facts of Eric's release reinforced a police theory that two men already known to be involved in the kidnapping had a woman accomplice.

Police had worked on the idea that a woman was involved after laboratory analysis revealed a red smudge on the envelope in which the original ransom note was contained was lipstick.

The first note, left behind by a darkhaired man who snatched Eric Tuesday from the playground of a swank country club, reportedly demanded $100,000 ransom. Peugeot has never revealed how much ransom he eventually paid or in what manner it was delivered.

Police inspectors have several times questioned Eric, his father and Roland Peugeot's brother, Alain. They did not disclose what, if anything, the family was able to add.

So far police sources have revealed these known facts about the kidnapers.

The gang consists of two men and possibly a woman. The men are both darkhaired and slender but one is considerably taller than the other.

Eric was held prisoner about 56 hours in a two-story apartment—or more likely a small house—in the Paris region and probably in the vicinity of the country club. There was a television set on the first floor.

Fires In Texas Hills Mark Easter Legend 114 Years Old

FREDERICKSBURG, Texas (AP)—This is an Easter legend about the bunny, a band of cutthroat Comanches and a pioneer mother and her child psychology.

The story began 114 years ago Saturday in this town founded by German immigrants.

It was very much a Western Wilderness. Comanches dominated it.

The Indians slaughtered pioneers when they could catch them outside the town. They burned farm homes.

Just as in any present-day screen Western, only one man could talk sense to the Comanches. He was John Meusebach, the colony's leader.

Meusebach set out for the main Comanche encampment, four days journey away, to seek a treaty. It was shortly before Easter.

Comanche warriors surrounded the community. The townsmen could not determine whether the Indians planned an attack. Meusebach might have been killed en route by the unpredictable redskins.

On the night before Easter Comanche campfires flickered in the hills looking down on the town.

The tension in the adults communicated itself to the children. And when night came and the children saw the fires, they became more fearful.

Then, says the legend, one mother, her name now lost, sat her children before her and explained the fires this way:

Easter bunnies in the hills spent the week collecting eggs. They also picked colorful wildflowers.

And tonight they build the fires to boil the flowers for dye and to boil the eggs.

The children slept well that night, the legend says.

In a few days, Meusebach returned waving the treaty. And Fredericksburg residents pledged they would light fires in the hills each night before Easter to mark the treaty consummation.

All week, workers have piled brush and timber in the hills for Saturday night's fires which mark the 114th observance.

Sorptimist Club Hears Program On Jacksonville

The Soroptimist Club held its dinner program meeting at the Dunlap Hotel on Monday night, April 11th. Anna Ritter, program chairman for April, presided at the meeting and introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Margaret Ferry who presented an informative and interesting program on the historical background of Morgan County and Jacksonville.

The talk was supplemented with pictures of the Centennial of 1925 and of early days in Jacksonville. Of special interest was the information that the original name of Jacksonville was Diamond Grove, and not until after 1820 did our city become known as Jacksonville. It was named after Andrew Jackson, President of the United States.

The Western Observer, published by James G. Edwards in 1830, was the first Jacksonville newspaper.

We learned that there were three Court Houses. The first one built of logs was destroyed by fire, the second one of brick was out grown, and the present one was completed in 1868.

Known as the "City of Elms" we were surprised to learn that at the time Jacksonville was plotted there was not a single tree on the plot.

The program was interesting and educational. Mrs. Ferry promised to return to continue the information to the present date.

Following the program a business meeting was held to make final arrangements for the Easter food sale to be held at Rowland's Paint Store on Saturday, April 16th.

Award Contract For Enlarging Bath House

PITTSFIELD — The Pittsfield Park Board awarded a contract to Tom Troutner Jr. for an addition to the bath house at King Park. The Park Board reached the decision last summer to make substantial improvements to the swimming pool and bath house and awarded a contract to Midwest Pool and Court Company of Kirkwood, Mo., for the pool improvements.

This contract was awarded last fall, but most of the work is being done this spring. The pool improvements include doubling the area of shallow water in the pool and the construction of a new wading pool for small children.

The improvement also includes adding a substantial amount of deck area for sunning and a completely new modern and adequate filtering unit. The contractor is busy at work on this phase of the improvement and expects to have it finished by the middle of May.

The contract for bath house, installation of additional showers and other additions and improvements fully comply with the requirements of the state board of health for modern pool facilities.

To finance these improvements the Park Board has been accumulating money from the pool income and has approximately $15,000 from this source. In addition, the Park Board, with the approval and vote of the City Council, is issuing up to a maximum of $50,000 in 5% revenue swimming pool bonds. These are being handled by the Farmers State Bank and it is expected that they will all be sold locally.

The income from these bonds are exempt from income tax. Lee Brace is handling the sale of these at the Farmers State Bank. At the present time, approximately one-half of the total amount of bonds have been sold, and it is expected that the balance will be sold during the next two or three weeks.

The work on this project has been delayed by the unusually late spring, but the board hopes, with good weather during April and May, that both the pool and bath house will be completed and ready for the usual opening date at the end of May.

Exhibit Tells Story Of Identical Twins

The finger prints of each set of twins are much alike. So are the plaster casts of their teeth and their oral X-rays show almost identical dental caries and repairs.

So far, their grades, tastes and enthusiasms have been nearly identical.

The Sandidge girls, 16, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James Sandidge, rural route 1, are juniors at Jacksonville high school. When it came time to think about a science fair they told the instructor, Norman Richard, they would like to set up one dealing with the biology of identical twins.

The Trull girls, 15, are sophomores and the daughters of Farm Adviser and Mrs. George A. Trull, 1226 W. Chambers. They turned in the same answer.

The instructor felt a joint effort was clearly indicated.

The four girls traced their lineage and found that there was a previous history of twins in their families—both via their mother's side. They accumulated all the information on identical twins that they could find and then used pictures, diagrams, molds and other visual aids to tell the story.

Kathleen Ruppel Bride In Cass

In an impressive candlelight ceremony at five-thirty o'clock Sunday evening, April tenth, Miss Kathleen Ruppel of Arenzville community and Richard L. Hoffmann of Belleville, were united in marriage at St. Peters Lutheran church, Arenzville.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Meyer, Beardstown route one, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Hoffmann, Belleville.

The vows were exchanged before an altar banked with white gladioli and mums and softly lighted by slim white tapers. Easter lilies and candelabra added to the decor where the pastor, the Reverend George A. Bischoff, presided for the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Inez Dahman was organist for the nuptial prelude which included traditional marches. She also accompanied Mrs. Robert Peterson of Macomb who sang "O Promise Me" and "I Love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was radiant in a gown of French imported lace over satin. The fitted bodice ended in points at front and back and had long tapered sleeves in lace. The neckline was a slight scoop cut with deep lace scallops front and V at the back. Small covered buttons fastened the dress at the back and the very full skirt fell in soft folds to the floor.

Her headpiece was a tiara of seed pearls securing a fingertip veil of French illusion bordered with Chantilly lace. The veil had been worn by her sister at her wedding. The bride's only jewelry was a strand of crystals, a gift of her bridegroom. She carried a small white prayer book overlayed with lace and ivory-colored orchids.

Sister Matron of Honor

Mrs. Robert H. Ommen of Chapin, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore azure blue satin and nylon chiffon in conventional length made with rounded neckline, fitted bodice and bouffant skirt.

The bridesmaids were Miss Janice Hoffmann, Belleville, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Marilyn Meyer, Beardstown, sister of the bride. They were gowned identically in blue taffeta and nylon chiffon. They wore matching color headdresses and carried colonial bouquets of blue and white carnations tied with blue satin ribbons.

Azel A. Griswold, college friend of the bridegroom, was best man. Brothers of the bride, Richard Ruppel and Marshall Meyer, were ushers and also lighted candles at the altar.

The bride's mother wore a poudre blue lace and linen sheath with white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations. The groom's mother wore a blue sheath accented with white lace. Her flowers were also white carnations.

All four grandmothers of the couple were able to attend the ceremony. Each wore a corsage of white carnations.

Reception Follows

A reception for wedding guests was held in the church Parish Hall immediately following the ceremony. The bride's chosen colors, blue and white, were used in decorations.

The beautifully appointed table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with the traditional arch and wedding bells. Mrs. Wilbur Meyer, sister-in-law of the bride, assisted by Miss Linda Buck of Sycamore, served cake.

Mrs. George A. Buck and Mrs. John Buck presided at the punch bowl. Miss Sandra Bell, Belleville, served coffee. Miss Donna Wright registered guests and Miss Flo Butler was in charge of gifts.

When the couple left for a short honeymoon to an undisclosed destination the bride was wearing a black sheer wool spring costume suit with beige accessories and the orchids from her wedding bouquet. Since their return the newlyweds are residing at 222 Carroll street, Macomb, Ill.

This June both will graduate from Western Illinois University with Mrs. Hoffmann receiving her BS degree in elementary education and Mr. Hoffmann his MS degree in chemistry.

Cancer Crusade To Reach Climax Soon

Saving lives now, as well as countless lives in the future, is the double-barreled objective of the American Cancer Society's Crusade. The Crusade, which opened April 1, will reach it's climax on Sunday, April 24, according to Don G. Fiedler, Cancer chairman for Morgan county.

"The success of our short-range and long-range programs depends upon the generous cooperation of the public," said Mr. Fiedler.

"If funds are available, we can step up the research we now support in hundreds of laboratories staffed by more than 1,000 scientists who are seeking to control cancer for all time. And if funds are available we can fill unmet needs in our programs of service, public education and professional education, and save some of those 85,000 Americans who die of cancer every year."

With Cancer Sunday only a week away, Mr. Fiedler said last night that 300 volunteers are ready to go into action in the city of Jacksonville, and throughout Morgan county. Many have already started to work in several fields and the response has been very gratifying.

"They distribute information material which we know to be life-saving," the chairman said. "I urge you to save your leaflets, to study them carefully, and heed their advice. Don't forget that this disease strikes in two out of three households, at one time or another. But with proper treatment, one half of those who get cancer can be saved. Unfortunately, treatment isn't always prompt, so that we are actually saving only one in three patients."

"I can't urge you too much, to respond generously" Mr. Fiedler said. "It is only from your contributions that we can raise the necessary money that will some day bring a halt to this killing disease. I also want to thank the hundreds of workers in Morgan county for the wonderful spirit and cooperation they have given me in this Crusade."

ROTARY HOE CULTIVATOR
Ideal for Rainy Season Farmers IDEAL

Designed for high tractor speeds. Use before or after plants are up. When early rains create a hard crust, a hoe is a "must" for getting your crops started right. Will remove weeds between plants as well as between rows, without crop damage. Will cultivate plants from 8 to 10 in. high. By killing small weeds early, late cultivation is seldom required. Also mulches and pulverizes the soil. Moisture is more readily absorbed; runoff evaporation and possible washout of small plants is retarded.
Extremely Versatile. Can be used in the field at times when a regular cultivator could not possibly do a satisfactory job. Uneven or contoured fields are uniformly cultivated. When pulled backward, it becomes a clod buster as well as a soil aerator. Efficiently cultivates wheat, corn, beans, oats, alfalfa, etc.

Only a full-service bank meets all your banking needs!

Here's why the best place to save is at a full-service Bank!

There are three big reasons why it's wise to develop the habit of systematic saving at a full-service bank:

1. Your money is well-protected in a full-service bank because a bank has a substantial percentage of its funds in cash, government bonds and short-term loans. This means you can be sure you get your money, in cash, when you want it.

2. A full-service bank answers all your banking needs, so it's by far the most convenient place to do business. Want a savings or checking account, a low-cost personal loan? No matter what you need—a full-service bank can take care of you!

3. You help build your personal bank standing at a full-service bank. Bank standing means that a bank knows you . . . works with you. Actually, personal bank standing is one of the most valuable assets you can have!

So get financial security by opening a savings account today at your full-service bank!

What is a full-service bank? It offers you more than any other savings institution. It's the only place that meets all your banking needs. Here are some of the many services available at full-service banks:

	Full-Service Bank	Other savings institutions
Checking accounts	YES	no
Savings	YES	YES
Personal loans	YES	no
Car loans	YES	no

ANCIENT FOOD LAWS

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—A prize-winning study by a rabbinical student discounts the belief that ancient Hebrews had more knowledge of preventive medicine than other peoples of their time.

The study by Joel Wittstein of Cincinnati, a senior student at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, was published by the Helene Fuld Health Foundation here. It says some of the ancient Jewish laws are hygienically sound, but were derived from "taboo and magic, superstition and fear."

Award Contract For Modesto Post Office

Senator Everett M. Dirksen has been advised by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield that a contract has been signed for construction and lease to the Post Office Department of a new Post Office building at Modesto, Ill.

The successful bidder is John C. Gray, of Modesto. Ground breaking and construction will begin immediately with completion due May 31. The lease will run for five years with renewal options extending an additional 10 years.

This modern post office, built of face brick and concrete block, will be located on a 33 by 99 foot lot on Highway 111 on the north side of the Telephone Co. building. It will provide 762 square feet of interior space, a 36 square foot loading platform, and 594 square feet of parking and truck maneuvering area. Specifications call for new modern lighting and equipment, including a low, open patron-service counter.

Postmaster General Summerfield pointed out that the postal facility to be built at Modesto is typical of many others going up elsewhere throughout the country. "These new post offices," he said, "contain not only the modern patron-service counters and eye saving fluorescent lighting, but provision is made for patron service after regular business hours."

The Postmaster General also pointed out that the new post office in Modesto, one of 1,400 new post offices to be built in fiscal 1960, will remain under private ownership while leased to the Federal Government, and hence will pay local real estate taxes to bear its share of the cost of local government

FISH ARE FINE

NORTON, Va. (AP)—Volunteer firemen are used to rescuing people from burning buildings and cats from tall trees. But they ran into a new one when they were called on to save the lives of 1,000 fish.

The fish were being transported from the hatchery at nearby Marion when the tank truck sprung a leak and went dry. Responding to a rush call, the firemen refilled the tank from a fire hydrant, and not a fish died.

Complete Canvass Of Primary Election For 'Official' Winners

A complete canvass of voting records for each of the county's forty-nine precincts was completed late Saturday morning by Louise Coop, Morgan county clerk. Official totals for each of the candidates were announced following the audit. Ivan Ingram, vice-chairman of the Republican Central Committee, and Virgil Wegehoft, chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, were in charge of the canvass. Members of the county clerk's staff assisted with the audit.

The official canvass resulted in only a few slight changes in the total figures for each of the offices, however, not enough to affect the outcome.

Write-in candidates for circuit clerk, state's attorney and county commissioner on the Democrat ticket were compiled. Winners for the three offices were Walter (Jack) Daniels, Harry G. Story and Homer E. Baptist, respectively.

Wallace Hembrough and Mrs. Louise Harris were elected as school trustees of Morgan county on a separate ballot. Both were elected as write-in candidates to the board of trustees.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Another gain this week of as much as 35 cents a hundredweight was the 15th consecutive weekly advance in the butcher hog market since it hit a four-year low at the end of 1959.

On two days, Wednesday and Friday, prices topped at $17.25, the first times they had climbed above $17.00 with one exception since last June. A high of $17.35 was paid one day last month when offerings were sharply curtailed because of a severe snowstorm.

Prices topped at $17.00 or more on all days after Monday despite a week's supply of 33,500 head, the largest in six weeks. On Wednesday, the average cost of all butcher grades hit $16.46, the highest in about 10 months.

Shippers were good buyers throughout the week, taking almost half the supply.

The week's cattle supply was the smallest in more than five years but demand for slaughter classes was relatively narrow and the advance in steers was limited to 50 cents a hundredweight.

Buyers said restricted slaughtering operations because of religious holidays accounted in part for the lighter marketings.

Demand for slaughter lambs slackened somewhat near the end of the week when prices were weak to 50 cents lower. The supply consisted mainly of old crop slaughter lambs grading mostly choice. About 500 head of shorn lambs still were unsold at the close of Friday's trade.

CHICAGO (AP) — (USDA) — Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep markets for the week:

New York Stock Market

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pursued an uneven course this week as it paused to consolidate the previous week's gains, the biggest of 1960.

The trading week was shortened to four days due to the closing of the exchanges for Good Friday This injected an element of caution, for traders dislike the uncertainty of a prolonged weekend.

Another somewhat depressing factor was the deadline for income tax payments, both federal and New York State. Brokers said this occasioned some selling although not a great amount.

The over-all statistics, showing 638 losers to 513 gainers, gave the market a slightly lower tone.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell .90 to 216.10.

Enough of the actively traded stocks and of the pivotal blue chips advanced to give a lively appearance to selected portions of the market. Both investment demand and speculative buying were much in evidence, along with precautionary selling.

American Telephone, the most widely held stock, touched successive new highs and had a net gain of 3½ in response to consistent buying, prompted by higher earnings and Wall Street recommendations.

General Motors, the "biggest" stock, in terms of outstanding shares, lost ⅜ at 46. Encouraging reports made American Motors the volume leader with a gain of 1¾ and Radio Corp. second most active with a rise of 4¼.

Volume for the holiday-shortened week was only 10,451,000 shares compared with the previous week's total of 14,638,070 shares for a full five-day week. Average daily turnover this week was 2,612,750 shares compared with 2,927,614 the week before.

Most active issue on the New York Stock Exchange was American Motors, up 1¾ at 28⅞ on 276,000 shares. Most active on the American Stock Exchange was Dumont Laboratories, up ⅝ at 9⅝ on 113,400 shares.

U.S. government and corporate bonds declined this week in reaction to tighter money.

Short-term interest rates went up on a broad front early in the week, reversing an easier trend evident since January. Increases were posted for bankers acceptances and commercial paper marketed by dealers and the big sales finance companies.

Trading on the New York Stock Exchange declined to $20,982,500 par value from $28,414,750 the previous week. A year ago it was $32,342,500.

GRAIN REPORTS, WEATHER AFFECT WEEK'S TRADING

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — A government report and weather were the major influences this week in a fairly active grain futures market. Interpretations were both bullish and bearish with prices reacting accordingly and ending in a mixed range.

Old crop wheat and soybeans met the stiffest pressure and posted losses running about 1½ cents. Most gains were fractional.

The first report of the year by the Department of Agriculture on probable winter wheat production was viewed generally as bearish, although a few brokers said the figure probably will be raised in later monthly estimates.

The outlook as of April 1 was for a yield of almost 977 million bushels, the department said. That was 51 million larger than the forecast of Dec. 1.

Traders who thought the estimate a little small said the crop of about the same acreage as 1959 had come through the winter in better general condition than for the past several years. On the other hand, private advices since the government figures were compiled mentioned that the old crop had emerged from dormancy in central and eastern Kansas and in Missouri to thin stands.

There was some differing opinion also about the government report of grain stocks on farms, particularly corn. The report showed the corn supply on farms amounted to well over two billion bushels, a record high. Even so, some brokers called the figure smaller than expected and noted that disappearance of corn since the first of the year was more than a billion bushels, also a record.

They said the heavy usage had confirmed earlier advices that the grain was being fed to livestock at a faster clip than in recent years, probably because it is too wet for marketing or to be eligible for loan benefits under the government price support program.

Arrival of more seasonable weather was believed to have conditioned much of the oats acreage for planting of that crop within the next several days. While planting will be late, it was thought more of that grain will be sown than was believed likely a week ago. If the normal oats acreage is seeded it will change the earlier prospects for larger corn and soybean plantings.

At the end of the week, wheat was 1¾ cents a bushel lower to ⅛ higher, May $2.05¾-06; corn ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, May $1.19¾-19; oats ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, May .74¼; rye ¼-1¼ higher, May $1.22¼; soybeans ¼-1¼ lower, May $2.13¾-14.

8% MORE CATTLE ON FEED IN 21 STATES IN '58

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eight per cent more cattle and calves were on feed April 1 in 21 major producing states for the quality slaughter market than a year earlier.

An Agriculture Department report put the number at 6,401,000 head compared with 5,939,000 a year earlier. Most of these were in the midwestern corn belt. Iowa led with 1,605,000 compared with 1,446,000 a year ago.

Besides Iowa, states showing increases included Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Montana, Colorado, Arizona, Utah and California. States showing decreases included Indiana, South Dakota, Nebraska and Idaho. No changes were shown for Ohio and Missouri.

The report showed also that high grade beef steers and heifers sold for slaughter during the first three months of this year at 12 major livestock markets were 11 per cent above the same period in 1959.

CAUTION AGAINST LOW RATE OF PIG VACCINATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department said today the current low rate of vaccination of pigs is setting the stage for a possible costly outbreak of hog cholera.

Caused by a virus, cholera is the most serious of all swine infections. There is no cure or treatment for the disease.

The trend toward vaccinating fewer animals has prevailed for the past five or six years. A survey showed that there were one million fewer pigs vaccinated last year, although the pig crop was seven million head larger.

The department said, however, there is no evidence at this time that the prevalence of hog cholera is increasing.

ESTIMATED RECEIPTS

CHICAGO (AP) — Estimated livestock receipts for Monday are 8,000 hogs, 19,000 cattle and 2,000 sheep.

Circus A Nice Place To Visit

But Today's Kids Don't Want To Become Part Of It

By GABE KAIMOWITZ
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—"Hi diddle dee dee, no circus life for me."

That's apparently the song of the boy down the block and the girl with the lovely blonde locks. He may want to swing a mighty baseball bat but he probably has little desire to "fly through the air with the greatest of ease." She may dream of being a Hollywood starlet but rarely, if ever, does she see herself looking down from a high wire.

This despite the fact that almost every American youngster with the price of admission (and some without), will have a circus almost at his door step sometime during the season which unofficially kicked off with the opening of Ringling Brothers Barnum and Bailey Circus at Madison Square Garden in New York March 31.

* * *

Playing 11 months of the year in indoor arenas throughout the country, Ringling Brothers will be in competition with 15 tent shows. In the New York City area, for instance, at least four other circuses—the Clyde Beatty, Royal International, Wirth, and the Comack—will open this spring.

The lack of interest among youngsters today in participating in this spectacle which they seem to enjoy watching perplexes those associated with the business.

They cite cases of fellow workers who would do almost anything "just to be with the circus" in days gone by.

* * *

Few training grounds are provided by or for the circus, according to Dewey Bardo, national outdoor representative of the American Guild of Variety Artists.

- An estimated 55 to 90 per cent of an average circus troupe is foreign born.
- The circus is clannish, founded on "family heritage." Most of the families are of European or South American origin.
- The public often confuses the circus with the "carny (carnival) where every customer is a sucker."
- Circus life is transient; living standards have not kept up with those in other professions in many respects.

* * *

"There are no big acts anymore, no big names to capture the public's imagination."

But if every rule needs an exception to prove it, John Cuneo is that exception in this case.

Son of a multi-millionaire, John, 29, is a Chicago native. Formally educated at Georgetown University, he started out training goats to fill spare hours, then progressed to leopards, polar bears, llamas.

* * *

In the animal ring which he enters wearing a full dress suit, he contradicts the image the American public is likely to have of a typical circus performer.

But Cuneo also offers little encouragement to the few youngsters with clowns or animals in their eyes. His act is tremendously expensive to maintain, trained help is hard to get, and the "big money" in entertainment is elsewhere.

"When the next P. T. Barnum comes along to make big elephants (Jumbo) and big stars really big again . . ."

So far he has not arrived.

EMMETT KELLY, always the sad clown, may be a little sadder now because of the lack of interest shown in circus life by today's youngsters.

New Head Of Federal Communications Commission Steps Into Fairly Warm Spot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick Wayne Ford is something of a rarity in official Washington—a bureaucrat who became boss.

In taking over the chairmanship of the Federal Communications Commission, the 52-year-old Ford stepped into a fairly warm spot. The FCC has had its troubles recently, and Ford succeeded a chairman who resigned under congressional criticism.

The FCC regulates rates charged by the telephone and telegraph industries. It also awards licenses for radio and television use of certain wave lengths.

The industries the agency is charged with regulating in the public interest count their assets in the billions of dollars. The worth of a television station alone is sometimes measured in millions of dollars.

The pressures on the seven FCC commissioners for favored treatment have been tremendous —a fact which has led to trouble, a congressional investigation and the resignation of two commissioners since 1958.

After 21 years as a government lawyer, Ford, like most other long time public servants, is fully aware that the normal, tax-deductible hospitality of the business world becomes influence peddling when practiced on government employes.

In the past some few members of the FCC have been known to accept gifts—television sets, vacations, pay for speech-making and reimbursements for hotel rooms and food.

A reporter asked Ford if he had ever made speeches, especially to broadcast industry meetings.

"About four times, I think," said Ford. Did he pay his own way?

"I learned long ago," he replied, "that if the government wouldn't pay my way, and I couldn't pay my way, I wouldn't go."

Does he own a TV set?

"Yes," said Ford with a grin. "I bought it in 1952 to watch the conventions—and I paid for it. On time, as a matter of fact."

The House Legislative Oversight subcommittee is now holding hearings on a resolution (H.R. 4800) which, among other things, prohibits acceptance of "unusual hospitality." In essence, the committee is seeking to evolve a code of ethics, the violation of which would be punishable by law.

Ford was asked in an interview if he could define "unusual hospitality."

"No," he said, "but you know what it is. I know what it is, and everybody else knows what it is."

When a member of the committee asked a similar question, Ford said he could conceive of a situation wherein acceptance of a soft drink would be "unusual hospitality"—for example, if during a hearing he went out with one of the principals in the case to have a soft drink.

It would be the appearance," he explained, "not the soda pop. The circumstances surrounding the act might make something innocent appear totally improper."

The pipe-smoking Ford makes it clear that he intends to avoid even the appearance of impropriety.

In the past some FCC chairmen have appeared clubby with certain members of the industry they have been supposed to regulate.

Fords reputation for personal integrity is such that it seems reasonably safe to predict that some of the former cozy social relationships between FCC chairmen and members of the industry are at an end.

Ford began his government career in 1939. He has served with the Federal Security Agency, the old Office of Price Administration and the Department of Justice. At the time he was appointed to the FCC, Ford was assistant deputy attorney general.

President Eisenhower elevated Ford to the chairmanship of the FCC on March 10—the day the resignation of John C. Doerfer was made public.

Doerfer quit under fire. He admitted to House investigators he had accepted a yacht trip from George B. Storer, who holds FCC licenses on five television stations and a dozen radio stations.

Doerfer's resignation was preceded by that of FCC commissioner Richard A. Mack, a Democrat appointed by Eisenhower for the usual seven-year term.

Mack quit in 1958. He is now awaiting retrial on charges of entering a conspiracy to influence the award of a Miami, Fla., television station license. His first trial ended with a hung jury.

Ford has assumed the FCC chairmanship at a time when the broadcast industry is under attack for rigged quiz programs and payola—undercover payments to individuals for disguised commercial plugs.

Two days after Ford became chairman, the FCC issued a directive in which it said that henceforth stations would be responsible for the actions of employes and that commercial plugs had better be identified as such.

During the House investigation into broadcast industry practices, executives repeatedly testified they were ignorant of the quiz rigging and payola practices.

Ford was asked in an interview if he believed the FCC should set up an investigative organization to keep tabs on practices inside the industry which went on below the executive level.

The gray-haired Ford said the question was a tough one. How can the FCC regulate without censoring, or interfering with normal business practices?

He indicated that as long as he is chairman, license renewal is going to be based on how well a station polices itself internally.

He also favors giving the community itself an opportunity to let the commission and the station director know what it wants on television.

"Out of such a proceeding," Ford says, "I would hope there would develop a reasonably well defined policy whereby the greatest freedom would be assured the broadcaster in programing and, at the same time, the commission would perform its function of protecting the public interest."

This is the first time the West Virginia-born Ford has appeared in the national limelight. He is the son of the late George M. Ford, who was once state superintendent of schools in West Virginia.

Ford was graduated from the University of West Virginia's law school in 1934—the year after he married the late Virginia Lee Carter of Middlebourne, W.Va. To get through school in those depression years he worked 25 hours in the school library and 15 hours a week in the law library. He was an "A" student.

He joined a private law firm after graduation and entered politics. At the time he entered government service he was president of the Harrison County Young Republicans.

At the behest of a couple of former law professors Ford came to Washington to help set up the Federal Security Agency and he has been here ever since, save for World War II duty as an Air Force personnel officer.

Ford lives in Alexandria, Va., with his 14-year-old daughter, Mary Carter Ford, and his second wife, the former Mary Margaret Mahoney of Blackstone, Mass.

When Ford first came to Washington he intended to stay only two or three years.

Why has he stayed? "Part, I guess was circumstance, but public service is part of the family. There was my father. And my mother taught school for 40 years."

load as the satellite passed over the north polar regions. An intricate system of mechanisms was then supposed to have pointed the capsule downward along a trajectory that would bring it down low enough to prevent the instrument package from suffering damage from heat caused by friction.

When the capsule was to have reached altitude of about 40,000 feet, a parachute was to have taken over the job of slowing down the instrument packet. It was at this point that nine planes equipped with trailing snares, guided by four radar aircraft, were to have attempted to snatch the capsule in air.

The capsule is tightly sealed, however, and a radio beacon was built in to emit signals to guide surface vessels to the packet.

Castro's Worries Grow

says these movements are being directed from abroad.

The implication is that the anti-Castro forces are getting help from such areas as Florida, where there are many Cuban exiles.

Cuban officials declined to comment either on the progress of the roundup or the pursuit of Beaton. There was no indication of the number under arrest.

The normal practice is for agents to seize a great number of persons, then release those to whom they are unable to trace any anti-Castro activity.

Regular troops are chasing Beaton, who was born in the eastern mountains and knows the country well. He once served as Castro's guide. Rains in the mountains made the going slow.

Revolucion, newspaper of Castro's revolutionary movement, scoffed at the idea Beaton and his band formed political opposition to Castro. It dismissed Beaton as a mere fugitive from military justice. Beaton is wanted for the killing of Maj. Christino Noranjo last fall. Beaton insisted he was framed.

While there is a news blackout on the operations against Beaton, the average Cuban in Havana seemed to be well informed on the situation. Pro Castro Cubans were taking a grave view of events in Oriente Province.

Independent newspapers published a Washington dispatch quoting French diplomatic sources as saying Cuba will buy an unannounced number of Soviet built MIG jet fighters from Czechoslovakia. One Cuban unofficial source said the deal was part barter of sugar and part cash.

This story has been kicking around Havana many weeks, but no responsible source will confirm it. There are reports that MIGs already have arrived and are assembled at a secret base in central Cuba for a spectacular showing in Cuba's May Day celebration.

In the greatest of these, New York's annual Fifth Avenue parade, tens of thousands were expected to turn the normally busy artery into a mall.

The Weather Bureau warned that milady's Easter bonnet may get wet if she lives in the East or far Northwest. The forecast was for continued warm weather in most of the eastern third of the nation with a few scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Grain Storage Men To Meet In Decatur

Grain warehouse men of this area will go to Decatur Wednesday to attend an organizational meeting of the Illinois Grain Warehousemen's association. Some 600 owners of grain storage space are expected to attend.

Dinner will be served at the Masonic Temple at 6:30 p.m. Plates are $3 each and reservations may be made through Carl Cooper of Windsor, Ill.

Speakers from the newly formed Missouri and Iowa associations will discuss the objectives of the groups. Grain warehousemen are alarmed by suggestions that the U. S. storage program is too costly and should be reduced considerably in the near future.

Rocket Coach Bob Winstead and Coach Bob Kraushaar of JHS were out at the ball park Friday but they weren't attired in their customary uniforms for directing their respective diamond nines. Their wardrobe consisted of old clothes, old shoes and the main objective required in the operation of tearing down the south section of bleachers at Nichols Park —a pair of gloves to ward off splinters and perhaps a glancing blow from numerous rusty nails.

—O—

Since Wednesday, four of us including Tom Mussatto, have completely wrecked the structure and removed all the bleachers. All that remains are eight foundation supports and these will be just a matter of a few hours. Winstead brought four of his Rockets along Friday, Bucky Sullivan, Joe Cors, Bob Farmer and Terry Watts, and they were of tremendous help in stacking the lumber. In between pinch-bars, sledge hammers and electric saws, the main topic of conversation was sports — mainly the poor spring for baseball and the fall future of football for the Jacks and the Rockets.

—O—

Both coaches have had very few games this spring. Winstead four and Kraushaar three, and as they looked over the very muddy park diamond, Kraushaar commented, "You know what's going to happen, Bob? The District Tournament will be here before we get our batting orders organized" Winstead, who was to have played Feitshans a twin-bill Saturday at the Park, didn't know at the time that he was going to get a phone call from the Flyer mentor at seven o'clock Saturday morning. Winstead said Saturday "I should have called Springfield Friday night to let him know so I could have rested a little longer from this tearing down ordeal which requires a strong back and brilliant mind."

—O—

Kraushaar made one interesting comment about his football opener with Eisenhower next fall. "I sure would like to get by them but they're going to be tough again. They had too much speed for us last fall and save for a few opening game mistakes, they would have beaten us more than the 20-6 margin. If you thought the Decatur Reds were fast after watching them in the state tournament, Eisenhower was even faster on the gridiron where it defeated Decatur. Why, even their tackles were catching Billy Stanford and he's no slow-poke." Winstead should field another fine football team but he's losing some key linemen. Before the coffee break, the pair of mentors were discussing offensive patterns and although fall is about five months away Kraushaar and Winstead would like to get in a few baseball contests.

—O—

Hats off to the Park Board headed by John Agger for its decision to okay the removal of the south section. Save for a few good boards, the whole thing was rotting away, especially the foundation. Someone probably would have been seriously hurt this summer if it had remained. The south-side park is beginning to take on a new look already. The REA erected a pair of 70-foot poles Friday outside the fence in left and right field and these will replace the two poles now stationed on the right and left field foul lines which were definitely a fielding hazard. Russ Vernor, chairman of the YMCA summer project, got a hot-tip on some lights Saturday and was checking into the possibility of getting these standard lights, no longer used by the State Farm Insurance softball team. This would be one big step in the right direction for increasing the wattage at Nichols which has some dark spots.

—O—

It would be nice if the City officials would ever decide to take over this project of providing a summer athletic program for the youngsters of Jacksonville. It's always been beyond me why our local organizations always have to be responsible for providing the recreation so important to the teenagers. But I doubt if anything will ever be done and a fund drive will have to be held in order to secure any kind of decent lights at all. Bless the donors and the askers for they are the ones who are interested enough in our youths to give them a place to play and one that visiting teams will envy.

—O—

Joe Brooks, Illinois College baseball skipper, had the honor of making the final out Friday although it didn't find its way into the scorebook. Joe's boys, held to three hits in each game, lost a doubleheader to Millikin, 13-3 and 3-0. Five innings had been played in the second game with darkness setting in as Illinois College took the field for the top of the sixth inning. Domescik, former outstanding Auburn athlete, was ready to lead off when Umpire Dale Batty called the game on account of darkness. The batter yelled to Ken Mock, who had taken over the hurling chores in the fifth, to throw it in here. Mock obliged and Domescik singled sharply into centerfield. Rounding the bases in order Domescik almost got caught at third on Larry Scott's throw but the runner kept coming home and shortstop Ken Stone pegged to Brooks in time at home to catch the sliding Auburn hustler. No decision was made but Brooks got his man and barehanded to boot.

—O—

The worst pun of the week — There won't be any beer sold at Busch Stadium this year. The Cardinals lost their opener! More of the same — Busch Stadium will be air-conditioned this year. They're going to put a fan in each seat! These are terrible and maybe just as bad as Bing Devine thinks the club shouldn't be. He's already made several threats to the players practically telling them to shape up or be traded. Such is the way of life in professional baseball.

—O—

Merritt Norvell, a versatile quarterback for the Crimsons in 1958, is being counted on to add speed in the Wisconsin backfield next fall and from all indications he's going to make the grade. He has a lot in his favor. He's always had the desire and ability and now he has some weight in his favor. The last picture he sent home to his parents resembled someone else fans are very well acquainted with in the sports world. He looked an exact replica of Don Newcombe of the Cincinnati Redlegs — all 190 pounds of him.

—O—

A three-year compilation of money winnings on the two television golf shows—All-Star Golf and World Championship Golf —which wind up this spring, shows that Cary Middlecoff took home the lion's share of the loot, $45,500, with Sam Snead a not too distant second with earnings of $38,500. Sixty-four professionals have split a total of $412,500 in prize money during the three-year period.

Middlecoff played only ten days for his winning total. That's an average of $4550 per day — not bad for hitting that little white ball.

—O—

While quite naturally regarded as strictly a players' sport, the game of golf also turns out to be a top spectator attraction. Figures compiled by "Golf Digest" magazine show that 43 official PGA tournaments last year drew 1,105,500 onlookers, for an average of 25,709 fans, second only to pro football's average attendance of 43,984, and considerably higher than baseball, hockey and horse racing. Here are the complete fugures:

Tidewell Betters World 220 Mark

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Charley Tidwell of Kansas bettered the world's record for 220 yards around a curve Saturday as he sped to a 20.2 second to highlight a 5 - way invitational track and field meet won by Kansas.

The time will not be submitted for a record, however, because only two timers got him. The third failed to catch the start of the race.

It will, however, go as an American record.

The world's and American records are held by Ray Norton of San Jose State. He ran the event in 20.6 last year.

Police Say Deaf Boy Admits Killing Maid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Police said Saturday night they obtained a statement from a 16-year-old deaf boy that he slashed a hotel maid to death.

A juvenile judge ordered that the text of the alleged confession not be released. Juvenile Court Judge W. R. Culbreath ordered that instead, Harry Lee Mundy III, be given a hospital mental examination to see whether he is competent.

"I'm not going to make a three-ring circus of this thing," Culbreath told newsmen. "This was a savage attack. He doesn't seem to be a savage kid. If there's something wrong with him we want to know it before we go any further."

Earlier Saturday, Mundy denied slaying Martha Nagy, 44, who died of 44 slash wounds after she was called to sweep up some broken glass in Mundy's sixth-floor Miami Colonial Hotel room Friday.

Mrs. Nagy managed to reach the lobby by an elevator. Mundy fled the hotel and was arrested in a Fort Lauderdale apartment, washing out bloody socks.

"I was frightened, I had blood on my hands and clothes and nobody could understand me if I tried to explain that I didn't stab her. So I ran," Mundy told police.

The boy's 21-year-old sister, Sandra Mundy, acted as interpreter Saturday as he denied the crime. Mundy is classed as a deaf mute although, like many others of his type, he has normal vocal organs. Deafness from birth makes speech enormously difficult.

Mundy told this story: He dropped a glass in the bathroom, gestured to the maid in the hall, then went down to the lobby.

Rteurning to his room half an hour later, he saw the maid lying face down on the floor, covered with blood. He turned her over and she opened her eyes and stared at him. He ran terrified from the room.

"I went back to the lobby and tried to tell a porter there was trouble in my room. But he didn't understand me. I went out of the hotel and got into a taxi and just rode around," the boy's sister quoted him.

Returning after half an hour's ride, he saw police cars at the hotel. Then he rented a car and drove to Fort Lauderdale.

Mundy's sister said she has always been able to understand her brother's speech, although "It's like a different language." He reads her lips.

The boy has lived with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Mundy, wealthy residents of Sarasota, Fla., since his parents separated 12 years ago. Most of his education has been at a St. Louis school for the handicapped.

STOLEN KISS COSTS SUITOR HIS EAR

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Virginia Cerejo complained to her brother Maximino that Jose Ferreira was pestering her. Maximino had Virginia make a date with Jose, but the brother dressed up in Virginia's clothes and kept the rendezvous himself. When Jose leaned over to steal a kiss, police reported Maximino whipped out a knife and lopped off the ardent suitor's ear. Maximino's friends jumped out of the bushes and beat up Jose, who now is recovering in the hospital.

WOMAN GETS 2 YEARS FOR POISONING MOTHER-IN-LAW

ULM, Germany (AP)—Johanna Oechsle drew a 2-year prison term for feeding her mother-in-law rat poison even though the bottle was labeled "Not dangerous for human life." The court convicted the 50-year-old woman of attempted murder after she said she couldn't read the label anyway because she is nearsighted. She admitted trying to kill the old lady because "life with her was hell."

Humans Suffer No Ill Effects In Study Of Irradiated Foods

CHICAGO (AP)—One strain of laboratory mice developed enlarged or ruptured heart chambers after a long diet of irradiated food, but other animals and human volunteers suffered no ill effects.

This was brought out in a panel discussion of the nutritional aspects of preserving food with radiation from radioactive waste products from atomic reactors.

Reviewing such research, Dr. Merrill S. Read, of Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Blacksburg, Va. said the reaction in the affected mice is as yet unexplained, but research is continuing.

Read said the condition occurred only in some members of highly inbred strains of mice fed an irradiated diet containing cooked pork, chicken, white potatoes, carrots and evaporated milk.

The condition was restricted mainly to animals of only one strain, he said.

Some of the mice exhibited an enlarged or ruptured left auricle of the heart.

Read said similar heart damage did not develop in rats and dogs fed diets containing large quantities of irradiated milk.

His report, given at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Nutrition, a member group of the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology, also showed:

Seventeen different irradiated foods have been fed to either rats or dogs for two-year periods. No harmful effects were observed regarding growth, reproduction, life span and disease incidence.

A larger number of irradiated foods were fed to human volunteers for two-week period with similar success.

The consensus of investigators is that radiation - preserved food items will be as wholesome to the consumer as are cooked or canned foods prepared by more conventional methods.

This 64th annual BAA, stretching the traditional 26 miles, 385 yards from suburban Hopkinton to Boston's Back Bay area, is the first of two Olympic trials for U.S. marathoners. The national championship at Yonkers, N.Y., is the other.

PALMER BIG IF

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—There would be little doubt about the favorite for the $27,000 Greater New Orleans Open Golf tournament starting Thursday if there weren't an "if" attached. The uncertainty revolves around whether Masters Champion Arnold Palmer will play.

Palmer, winner of just about everything on this year's tour, would be less than an even money bet to pick up the $3,500 winner's check. But the big belter from Ligonier, Pa., is on a brief respite after winning the Masters Sunday and plans to rejoin the tour either here or next week in Houston, Tex.

Wildcats Split With Wesleyan

EVANSTON Ill. (AP — Northwestern defeated Illinois Wesleyan 4-2 Saturday and then dropped a 6-2 decision in a pair of seven inning baseball games.

Northwestern scored three runs in the sixth inning to score its triumph while Wesleyan scored four runs in the seventh inning of the second game on five straight singles.

Snead Vaults Into 3-Stroke Greensboro Lead

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Sam Snead shot a four-under-par 67 Saturday to vault in a three-shot lead with a 201 total for 54 holes in his bid for a seventh Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament victory.

The 47-year-old White Sulphur Springs, W.V., professional who has won here six times, broke out of a 36-hole tie with Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla. Finsterwald finished with three threes for a one-under-par 70 that gave him second place at 204.

There was a gap of six strokes between Snead and the third man, Len Woodward, Sydney, Australia, pro.

Going into Sunday's final round of the $17,500 tournament the three men who shared fourth place at 210 were nine shots off the pace and virtually out of the race for top money of $2,400. They were Gay Brewer of Crystal River, Fla.; Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, and Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla.

The American tanker Potomac, which displaces 32,950 tons when fully loaded, ran aground and an hour later was rammed by the 7,601-ton American tanker Green Valley.

The Italian tanker Santa Isabella, 20,700 tons, and a Greek passenger ship, identified as the 18,400-ton Papris, also ran aground. The Santa Isabella grounded near Suez and the Papris near Port Said.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Negroes were warned by the government Saturday they may be banished to backwoods reserves if they obey the underground call for a work boycott next week.

The Department of Bantu — native—administration and development issued the warning in 2 statements that ignored the question of how the South African economy could operate if the huge Negro labor force refuses to work.

Against the background of a report Tuesday by Justice Minister Francois Erasmus that authorities already are "shipping many idle and superfluous bantu back to their homelands," it said: "The bantu public are reminded that a considerable number of the recent stay-away-from-work campaign and have since been unemployed. Unless they find work soon they will have to go back to their homelands.

"Bantu workers are therefore, in their own interests, warned not to pay any attention to pamphlets or other forms of encouragement for them to stay away from work."

Jones Pitches No-Hit Ball For 7 2-3 Frames In 6-1 Giant Triumph

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sam Jones pitched no-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings Saturday until pinch hitter Walt Moryn homered for the Chicago Cubs' only hit in a 6-1 San Francisco Giant victory.

Jones, a no-hit, no-run pitcher in 1955 as a Cub, retired 17 men in a row from the third inning to the eighth. Then Moryn, hitting for pitcher John Goetz, came up with two out. Big Walt hit a two-one pitch high over the right field fence.

The victory was the second straight for Jones, who threw a three-hitter in Tuesday's opener against St. Louis.

Only one Cub reached second base besides Moryn. In the second, Frank Thomas walked and was forced by George Altman, who advanced to second on Don Zimmer's walk.

Jones walked three and struck out three. He had great support.

Schoendienst Raps Out Four Hits In 13-3 Victory For Braves

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Mauch saw "red" Saturday in his first game as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies—the veteran Red Schoendienst rapped four hits in a 13-3 victory for the Milwaukee Braves at Connie Mack Stadium.

Schoendienst, who Thursday night socked his first hit since coming back to the Braves from a fight against tuberculosis, unloaded a triple, double and two singles in an 18-hit Milwaukee attack against starting pitcher John Buzhardt and his three relievers. The inspirational key to Milwaukee's pennant hopes batted in three runs.

Mauch must have wondered about his statement upon arrival that the Phillies couldn't be as bad as painted, as the Braves made Lew Burdette's first 1960 pitching victory a carefree occasion. Milwaukee led 7-0 almost before the 7,500 kids in the crowd of 16,838 could let fly with their traditional home team cry of "We want a hit." They got the hits all right, but from the wrong club.

Jay Hook, Cincinnati Smother Pirates, 11-3

PITTSBURGH (AP — The Cincinnati Reds jumped on rookie pitcher Jim Umbricht and two other hurlers for 14 hits Saturday in pounding out a 11-3 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The batting onslaught spoiled the Forbes Field debut of Umbricht, 29-year-old righthander. His relievers were Fred Green and Paul Giel.

Lee Walls, a former Pirate, clubbed a homer over the left field scoreboard in the eighth that brought in three runs. But the Reds' big stick was Ed Bailey. He connected for four singles and a double in five times at bat.

Walls' homer came after Gus Bell singled and Frank Robinson walked. The Reds big inning was the sixth, however, when they picked up four runs and chased Umbricht to the showers. The runs were put across on four singles, a walk, an error and a long fly ball.

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Three-run homers by Dan Dobbek and Reno Bertoia carried the Washington Senators to a 15-0 exhibition victory over Charlotte of the Class A Sally League Saturday night.

Dobbek hit his homer in the sixth inning with the Senators already ahead 9-0. Bertoia's came in the ninth.

CHICAGO (AP —Jerry Lucas of Ohio State Saturday was named the Big Ten's most valuable basketball player.

Lucas, 20, is from Middletown, Ohio. He played in 27 games during the regular season and scored 710 points. He also picked up 442 rebounds on defense.

Jones Of E. Michigan Turns In Fastest High Hurdles Of The Year

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Hayes Jones, the Eastern Michigan flash, turned in the fastest 110-meter high hurdles of the year-13.6 seconds—and Ed Moran breezed to a 4:04.6 mile victory Saturday in the Quantico Relays.

This was Jones' first outdoor effort this spring. His clocking was eight-tenths of a second under the qualifying time for the Olympics.

"I'm bad on the last three hurdles," he complained. "I've got to improve."

He was off like a shot and never was in danger, flashing about a yard in front of Bill Johnson of Maryland.

Moran, who had a disappointing winter indoors, turned in a solid performance. He had hoped to get time of 4:02.

Peter Close, an ex-St. John's NY Miler, was second, a good 60 yards behind Moran.

This was the first Eastern outdoor meet of the year and the performance were excellent.

Besides seven meet records set Friday, four more went by the boards Saturday.

Maron's performance broke the meet record of 4:20.5 set by Brian Shannon of Fort Lee two years ago.

The Michigan State two-mile relay team not only set a meet standard but the 7:33.2 clocking was the fastest of the year. Jim Carr, Brian Castle, Bob Lake and Willie Atterberry carried the baton for the Spartans.

Bill Sharpe of the Shananan Catholic Club, Philadelphia, got of a 49 foot effort in the hop, step and jump to erase Joe Middleton's mark of 45-11 set last year.

Morgan State's mile relay team of Lawson Smart, Bob Ridley, Tom Anderson and Nick Ellis was caught in a snappy 3:13.1. It wiped out the 3:15.3 record set two years ago by Ohio State.

Dave Sime, the world record holder in the 200 meters and 220-yard dash, pulled a muscle and had to scratch from the final of the 100 meters.

In Sime's absence, Walt Fillman of the U. S. Army won the 100 meters in 10.6, nipping Penn State's Bob Brown.

Minnesota Seeking 3rd Straight Big 10 Baseball Championship

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer

Minnesota is seeking a third straight Big Ten baseball title this year and if pitching prowess is all it is cracked up to be, the other nine teams are expected to put up a merry chase.

Conference play will begin this weekend with Illinois, Purdue, Michigan and Michigan State getting things started. Illinois will be at Michigan Friday and at Michigan State for a doubleheader Saturday.

Purdue will be at Michigan State Friday and at Michigan for two games Saturday. The following weekend will find all league members in conference competition with single games on Friday and doubleheaders Saturday.

Indiana could easily improve on its fourth place tie with Michigan State. The Hoosiers have four pitchers returning who turned in all eight of Indiana's Big Ten victories.

This foursome is made up of Paul Deem, Paul Michaels, Dick Persinger and Bob Kyff. Don Foreman, an outfielder, will carry the big stick. Foreman batted .339 last season.

Purdue has eight returning lettermen and five are pitchers including Jack Helkamp who was 2-0 in the Big Ten. Bernie Allen, who batted .348, will be back at shortstop.

Northwestern will field a veteran team with starters at all but two positions. Don Weaver batted .364 in the Big Ten and will be in the outfield.

Michigan has high hopes after a successful Arizona tour which produced eight victories in 11 games.

Michigan State has a deep pitching staff headed by Mickey Sinks and Don Sackett but the Spartans will be weak in the outfield and need hitting help.

Despite possible pitching difficulties, Minnesota again will be the team to beat. Shortstop Dave Pflepsen and second baseman John Erickson are back and help form the best infield in the league.

Illinois and Wisconsin, finishing in a second place tie in 1959, will be strong again. The Illini have a veteran pitching staff headed by Terry Gillinger who had a 9-0 record last year and was 5-0 in the Big Ten.

Russ Martin and John Jurasevich will provide outfield punch and what problems Illinois might have can crop up in the infield where shortstop Bob Klaus will no longer be operating.

Wisconsin will field a veteran team including pitchers Marty Stillman, Jack Simon and Bill Richards. This trio provided seven of Wisconsin's nine conference victories.

Iowa should improve on its ninth place finish. Eleven Hawkeye lettermen include pitchers Dick Clausen, Allan Klinger and Rog Rudeen.

Ohio State has 10 top veterans back and the Buckeyes considered their recent Southern tour a success with five victories, two losses and two ties.

Kingpetch Beats Perez Out Of Flyweight Title

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Pone Kingpetch, 24-year-old son of a poor Thai fisherman, Saturday won the world flyweight boxing championship by split decision from defender Pascual Perez of Argentina in a bloody, 15-round bout.

The tall, thin Thailander's left eye was swollen shut and blood dripped from a cut above the eye as he was proclaimed Thailand's first world boxing champion on the deciding vote of neutral Judge Nat Fleischer of New York. Perez was cut above both eyes.

Fleischer, editor of Ring Magazine and director of the title fight, cast his vote for Pone, 146 to 140. Referee Lorenzo Torrealba of Argentina voted for Perez, 145 to 143. Judge Wong Hiranleka of Thailand, had Pone ahead, 148 to 137. The 10 point "must" system of scoring was used in which the winner of a round received 10 points and the loser nine or less. Perez was a 2-1 favorite.

Perez weighed 112 pounds, Pone 110½.

The crowd of more than 30,000, including the King and Queen and members of the Thai Cabinet, screamed in approval when Fleischer's vote was announced.

All of the spectators, including King Phumpiphol Aduldej and Queen Sirikit, sat behind barbed wire fence, erected to protect the fighters and officials. The royal couple and Cabinet members were protected by a high roofed blue and gold pavilion.

Thai fans have gone berserk in the past. Two years ago the crowd tore up seats and threw bottles into the ring when Dommy Ursua of the Philippines fouled Pone. Ursua required police protection.

Shaw Signs With Bears

CHICAGO (AP)—Glenn Shaw, co-captain of the Kentucky football team last year, has signed with the Chicago Bears, owner-coach George Halas said Saturday.

The 217-pounder was chosen by the Bears on the 11th round of this year's National Football League player draft.

"Blanton Collier (Kentucky coach) says Shaw was his best blocking back and an excellent defensive man," said Halas. "That's significant, because the record shows Shaw also was a consistently successful ball carrier at halfback and fullback."

Shaw was a nine-letter winner in football, track and basketball in his high school days at Paducah, Ky.

Veeck Will Be Host To Press

CHICAGO (AP) — Owner Bill Veeck of the Chicago White Sox will play host to more than 50 sports writers from a five-state area at Comiskey Park Monday.

Scribes from Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois will watch the American League champion White Sox drill Monday morning and then have lunch as Veeck's guests.

The Pale Hose launch their title defense Tuesday here against the Kansas City A's.

On Wednesday, Veeck will hold a similar get-together for radio-TV sportscasters from the same area. The Sox are idle that day.

ASBURY HOME BUREAU HOLDS LUNCHEON MEETING

The Asbury Home Bureau Unit met April 14th at the home of Mrs. Lewis Ward. The meeting began at 10:30 a.m. and was highlighted by a sack luncheon at noon.

The minor lesson on home preparedness was given by Esther Hembrough, and the major lesson, "Eight ways to Eighty-eight," was presented by Mrs. Don English. Mrs. Hembrough presided over the business session.

The group decided to meet May 12 at 10 a.m. (DST). The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Everett Reynolds. Program planning sheets were filed, after which Miss Graves spoke on "Food Promotion".

The hostess and her assistant, Miss Ethel Ward served the desert course consisting of strawberry short cake and coffee.

Ward Among Driving Entries For 500-Mile

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Three former winners were among drivers nominated when entry lists for the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race closed Friday midnight.

Fifty-two cars, 10 of them without drivers, had been entered and Indianapolis Motor Speedway officials said they understood eight or 10 more entries were mailed ahead of the deadline.

The field will be cut to starters in time trials May 14, 15, 21 and 22.

Roger Ward of Indianapolis, the 1959 Indianapolis winner who became the first race driver to earn over $150,000 in one season, was among the entries.

Hawks Trade Ferry To Detroit For Ed Conlin

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Hawks traded Bob Ferry to Detroit today for Ed Conlin, a five-year veteran of the National Basketball Assn.

Conlin, a 6-foot-6 former Fordham star, has been a steady performer since breaking into the NBA and is regarded as a good outside shooter and driver. The 6-foot-8 Ferry, a star at St. Louis University a little more than a year ago, had a 5.9 scoring average in 62 games with the Hawks but averaged only about 14 minutes for each game.

Both owner Ben Kerner and Coach Ed MacCauley of the Hawks feel Ferry would have little chance to play with the Hawks, with both Clyde Lovellette and Larry Foust returning as experienced centers.

"While we are sorry to lose Ferry, it boils down to the fact that Detroit needs a center and we need a corner man," McCauley said. "Ferry is much better as a center than as a forward."

Sandra Smith Topples Track Record In AAU

CHICAGO (AP)—Sandra Smith of Chicago Saturday set records toppling in the senior women's national AAU indoor track meet by registering 9-feet - ¼ inch in the standing broad jump.

The old mark was 8 - 11¾ by Shirley Heuford in 1955.

Ann Roniger of Topeka, Kan., was second with 8-9¾, and Joann Terry, Tennessee State, third with 8-9.

The basketball throw was won by Cel (cq) Rutledge of Austin, Tex., with a toss of 120-feet-10½ inches. The next two places were taken by Deliah Burchfield, Topeka, with 111-8 and Jean Hofbauer, Chicago, with 102-2.

The two final events were part of the preliminaries leading to the championships tonight.

Red Sox Hurlers Stop Yanks, 4-1

NEW YORK (AP) The fine showing of the Boston Red Sox pitching staff continued Saturday when a trio of hurlers held the New York Yankees to three hits for a 4-1 victory.

Dave Hillman allowed two hits in the first three innings, Bill Monbouquette hurled hitless ball over the middle three and Nelson Chittum finished it off.

SUSPECT ARSON IN CHURCH FIRES

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP) — Four small fires discovered Friday night in the Methodist Church have caused concern among pastors of the suburb's 10 churches.

Fire chief Fred Behrendt called it possible arson and asked the clergymen to "be on the lookout for strangers."

The Rev. Charles M. Crowe, pastor of the Methodist Church, said three men slept in the church building after discovery of the fires.

Fifty junior choir robes were destroyed and the pastor said the junior choir will sing without robes at Easter services unless some can be borrowed from other churches.

SIGN UP TIME

PRANGINS, Switzerland (AP) — World Heavyweight Champion Ingemar Johansson said Saturday he is flying to New York next Monday to sign the contract for his June 22 fight against Floyd Patterson.

Johansson has been training in Switzerland since April 5 when he piloted his own Four-seater plane into Geneva from his hometown, Goteborg, Sweden.

Junior Circuit Will Play Full Card Tuesday

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

President Eisenhower will help the Washington Senators and Boston Red Sox open the American League season Monday at Griffith Stadium, almost a week after the National League has started to play ball.

Eisenhower's efforts will be confined to tossing out the first ball. He is interrupting a golfing vacation to honor tradition in the presidential opener at Washington. After he finishes, the Senators will be strictly on their own in a battle between two clubs that are generally picked to fight it out for last place.

The American League will play its first full schedule Tuesday with games at Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and Baltimore. The total gate for the two-day, five-game program is expected to approximate 150,000. The National's four openers April 12 drew 179,782 fans.

Bob Elliott, who succeeded Harry Craft at Kansas City, is the only new manager in the league. Two others were not around last opening day. They were Jimmy Dykes who took over at Detroit after Bill Norman was ousted in early May and Billy Jrgues who replaced Mike Higgins at Boston in July.

A series of off season deals and retirements and the normal replacement of a number of veterans by rookies has resulted in a turnover of about 50 per cent from last year's opening lineups. In some cases, however, this is misleading. Regulars like Ted Williams and Bill Skowron, who normally would have opened a year ago were out of action only because of injuries.

Williams is expected to be in the Red Sox lineup for the Washington opener. Due to the retirement of Jackie Jensen and Sammy White, Manager Billy Jurges has had to do some fancy juggling with his Boston lineup. Bobby Thomson and rookie Lou Clinton might oust Gene Stephens and Gary Geiger, 1959 starters.

Washington will not be playing the $150,000 it reportedly got for Roy Sievers on first base, but it appears to have a pretty fair replacement in rookie Don Mincher, also acquired from Chicago in the Sievers deal. Only Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison from last year's starting lineup are due to bow again for the Senators.

The Chicago White Sox will open defense of their league championship at Comiskey Park against Kansas City before about 30,000. The Sox have added the power of Minnie Minoso, Gene Freese and Sievers. The three add up to 65 more home runs if they match their 1959 records.

Manager Al Lopez plans to send Early Wynn (22-10) against Elliott's Athletics who have undergone a series of changes since last season. The most important additions are such ex-Yankees as Hank Bauer, Norm Siebern, Marv Throneberry and Don Larsen. Bud Daley (16-13), a left-hander, will pitch for the A's.

Cleveland will open at home against Detroit. Manager Joe Gordon has picked up a rookie flash in Walt Bond, a young giant who played in Class A at Reading, Pa. last year. He has taken over centerfield from Jimmy Piersall. All depends on the young pitchers. Gary Bell (16-11) opens against Detroit's Jim Bunning (17-13).

Dykes hopes he has patched first base with Steve Bilko and shortstop with Chico Fernandez but, just in case, he has added Norm Cash as first base insurance. The pitching still is first class but thin.

Casey Stengel will try to lead his New York Yankees back toward their former glory, opening at Boston. The Yanks have added Roger Maris, a left-handed power hitter from Kansas City and some young pitching in Johnny James and Bill Short. Stengel probably will call on Jim Coates (6-1) to pitch the opener. Jurges probably will counter with Tom Brewer (10-12).

The Baltimore Orioles will open at home against Washington with about 30,000 due to watch Milt Pappas (15-9) tangle with Pedro Ramos (13-19).

Civil Defense Siren Test Tuesday At 1:30; Signals Tell Meaning

Civil Defense Director Dr. Vincent Lenth announced Saturday the completion of the telephone and electrical mechanism for operation of the new Civil Defense Siren on the Farmers Bank Building. The system was put through a "silent" run and the equipment check indicates that everything is in readiness for the formal test set for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Arrangements have been completed with Radio Station WLDS to provide information during the actual test. It is hoped that this medium will serve as a deterrent to the flooding of the telephone exchange with unnecessary calls, Dr. Lenth said.

"It is hoped that radio listeners and readers of the Jacksonville Journal Courier will disseminate this information to as many people as possible," the director explained.

He said he hopes that all citizens will remember the time—1:30 p.m. Tuesday—and take note of the various signals.

Because there are many people who are unfamiliar with the meaning of the Civil Defense siren signals, a review follows:

What The Signals Mean

ALL CLEAR—Three 30 second blasts with one minute intervals between each blast.

Checks for distance of sound carry will be made by the city and state police spotted at various points at the preimetry of the city.

Purchase of the siren was made possible in part by the federal government through a grant equal to half the cost of the equipment, and partly by a substantial donation by the Jacksonville Lions Club.

Because of the government's participation, use of the siren is limited to warnings of attack and storm disaster.

To Set Days For Testing

Subsequently, a specific day and time will be set for periodic checking of the siren. It is anticipated that this will be a signal of short duration.

Dr. Lenth said the City of Jacksonville and its citizens owe a debt of gratitude to the Farmers State Bank for granting the facilities of the bank building as a site for the erection of the siren. A federal survey of a map of the city showing the various elevations indicated that this was the most logical site for the warnings to adequate reach all parts of the city.

At a future date, the siren and its entire installation will be inspected and tested by a representative from the Federal Civil Defense Agency.

Heavy Spring Rains Blanket Jacksonville Area

A heavy Spring downpour blanketed the Jacksonville area with a little less than two inches of rain Friday and Saturday, and caused disrupted power service in isolated areas of the city. According to reports from the South Side Disposal Plant a total of 1.75 inches of rain fell in the 48 hour period beginning at 9 a.m. Friday.

Friday's total until 9 a.m. Saturday was 1:45 inches and Saturday's measurements until 9 p.m. showed .30 inch.

Much of the rain fell during the night when street lights and power service was out for short periods in several sections. Police also received a few calls about wires being down.

Severe storm warnings were released for Saturday evening, but few incidents had materialized by midnight. Storm warnings were also issued for Greene and Jersey counties and other parts of Central Illinois.

Storm damage during the two day rainfall was more severe in the New Berlin area where telephone lines and power service were disrupted and heavy rains drenched the city. Three inches of rain deluged the area during the night Friday and nearly another inch fell Saturday.

Forecast for the Central Illinois area Sunday called for wind and continued showers. Some storms were predicted also.

'Bible Bouquet' Inspiration For Easter

Mrs. Gerald Miller displays her version of a Bible Bouquet (center) employing ten specimens predominate in the scriptures.

Research into the Biblical reference to the flowers, shrubs, plants and trees has taken much time even for Mrs. Miller, who was a botany student when attending Texas Christian University.

Botany as a science did not exist until a few centuries ago and one name often served for more than one plant. The lily and rose were names applied to wild flowers in general thus making it difficult to identify flowers of long ago, some of which may have disappeared.

Mrs. Miller is the wife of Rev. Gerald Miller, pastor of Central Christian church.

Flowers in Mrs. Miller's bouquet, now on display in the window of Hofmann Florist, include: lily of the field (anemones); henna blossoms (camphire in the King James version of Bible).

Madonna lily; almond blossoms; rose of the waterbrooks (oleander); crocus (the rose of the scriptures according to revised standard version of 1950).

Mrs. Miller, an author and publisher, has prepared two programs in reference to the flowers of the Bible: Flowers of Old Judea and Bible Bouquet, which are expected to be copyrighted soon.

Wrong Way Out

The tragic shooting of the South African prime minister is viewed by all the world with deep shock.

Just as the great problems of world tension are not to be solved by gunfire and nuclear holocaust, so the internal tensions of nations—economic, social, racial or whatever—cannot really be relieved by violence.

For, as the South African tragedy now makes so painfully plain, violence begets violence. Once its mood is established, acts become possible which in a more reasonable atmosphere never would be contemplated.

The brutalities of war are the glaring proof. There is no substance to the notion that in war only one's enemy commits acts of extremity. All men who know its horrors are brutalized by it. Many stoop to levels they themselves would never have imagined possible.

Any resort to violence represents a defeat for the human intelligence. That can be said whether the battle line is drawn in war, in industrial strife, in political controversy, or in racial or other social differences.

No one can pretend that the racial problems of South Africa are not difficult. They are acute. All the more reason for the South African government to hold the line of rationality, to insist with all determination on solutions which avoid violence.

When authorities in evident panic fired upon aroused native Africans, they not only broke the barrier against violence, they let themselves down. They admitted failure.

They set in train the course of events which has led to this shocking assault on the leader of a proud country.

Vengefulness will rage in the hearts of many men as result of this tragedy. Yet what is called for at the grave turn is not more violence but the courage to put it aside, to seek the sane, human course.

Any who doubt it will see their doubts written in the broken bodies of men.

To answer violence with more violence is only to assure that its voice will lift louder and louder—until all other sound is blotted out.

Pinning Us Down—

That story about a bobby pin and an airliner ought to cause smiles among the gals of this world. It happened in Australia, when the nose wheel of a passenger plane jammed. The pilot borrowed the pin from the hostess to short circuit the wheel's electrical system until it could be shaken loose and lowered.

It's common knowledge that a woman and a bobby pin can fix just about any cantankerous machine men have devised, but the line really ought to be drawn at something like this.

Anyway, men can take heart from the fact that a bobby pin-making machine was probably invented by a man. How many have been repaired by women is a matter best left alone.

In Hollywood

By JAMES BACON
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Volumes have been written about Academy winners but the Oscar loser is really Hollywood's forgotten man.

I submit the first—at least in my memory—story about the day after the awards for a loser.

Arthur O'Connell, a two-time loser, is the case history. He was up for best supporting actor for his role of the grape-soaked lawyer of "Anatomy of a Murder."

One observation: If Arthur even wins an Oscar—and he probably will—better call out the police reserves. This guy celebrates even when he loses.

On the day after the awards two weeks ago, Beverly Hills citizens were startled to see a distinguished looking man wearing white tie and tails sitting in the front seat of a car. It was noontime.

It all started at the big ball after the awards where each table held six people and four bottles of liquor.

"Part of our table were nondrinkers," says Arthur," so we only had to order two more bottles."

But Arthur and his pal, rodeo champion Casey Tibbs, more than made up for the others. Arthur says he doesn't remember getting depressed after the awards.

He explained why Oscar losing doesn't upset him—although, naturally, he would like to win.

"I'm probably the only loser in history who benefitted more from losing than winning."

In 1956, Arthur was the favorite for his portrayal of the trapped bachelor of "Picnic" but he got trapped instead by big studio politics.

Lemmon's performance was a classic but it was a star role, not supporting. The studio also had James Cagney as a nominee in the same picture. Rather than pit Lemmon vs. Cagney, the studio dropped Lemmon into the supporting category.

The action touched off a controversy and forced the academy to change its rules so that stars—players billed above the title—could not compete in the supporting classification.

"Somehow," Arthur recalls, "I became a cause celebre. Producers, either venting sorrow for me or anger at the academy, kept doubling my salary without my asking for it. I played on the stage in 'Picnic' at $400 a week. I did the picture for $1,000—and a few months after losing the Oscar I was getting $5,000 a week."

What happened after losing this year?

"The next day Pat Boone called me from Paris and said he wanted me to do a spot on his TV show with Brigitte Bardot. He hoped it would cheer me up."

Arthur was on the next plane for Paris.

The Missing Robin, or, Reader Gets the Bird; Goulash by Any Other Name Tastes Just as Good

BY JERRY BENNETT

WASHINGTON— (N E A) — Springtime reminds Rep. Bill Widnall (R-N.J.) about the story of a New Jersey newspaper. Every year it prints the name of the first person who sees a robin.

On one occasion a new switchboard operator was on duty when a woman called and exclaimed:

"I wish to report seeing a robin!"

The baffled operator replied:

"Why? Is one missing?"

"That's not goulash," the diplomat replied. "This time we are serving what you Americans call braised beef tips."

She wrote Lodge asking him to make a speech in her district. Lodge answered that "grave issues" were expected to come up in the U.N. which would prevent him from getting away.

He explained that he deeply regretted his refusal since he would thoroughly enjoy speaking to her constituents.

In that case, the congresswoman wrote in a second letter, Lodge's speech could be easily scheduled for the following weekend.

Lodge replied that although he would be honored to make the address, the pressure of working at the U.N. required him to rest on weekends.

Look for the Silver Linings In Your Household 'Clouds'

We housewives complain bitterly when a household appliance breaks down and we have to get along without it for a few days.

But actually such breakdowns may teach us an important lesson or even afford us some unexpected, delightful hours.

What family busy pursuing its own interests hasn't felt a sudden closeness when a wild storm knocks out the electricity?

Books are put aside because there is no light for reading, the dead TV set suddenly is strangely quiet, and missing is the hum of all electrical appliances.

In the unaccustomed silence and the glow of candlelight the family draws together, much in the way pioneer families must have huddled together under the light of a lamp or close to the warmth of an open fire or a potbellied stove.

And mama, who is disgruntled at having to leave her car in a garage for repairs, sometimes discovers that being without transportation gives her more leisure time than on her usually hectic days.

No wonder she begins to see how much of her time is spent on chauffeuring and running errands and how hopping in the car to do this or do that chops up her days.

She may even find that some of the chauffeuring she has been doing is unnecessary, that the kids can ride a bus to school or maybe even walk.

A washing machine breaking down has even made some housewives realize that they have become slaves to cleanliness — that clothes don't HAVE to be washed after one wearing and that every day doesn't have to be wash day.

Even an air conditioning unit breaking down in the heat of summer can get a family that has been living behind closed doors and windows out under the stars for a breath of cool night air.

At any rate, since breakdowns in machinery are inevitable we might as well relax when they happen and maybe we'll actually enjoy the change of pace or learn a valuable lesson.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican party leaders last fall treated Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York like a gate-crasher at an exclusive party where Vice President Richard M. Nixon was the guest of honor.

So out he went, but under his own power.

The frigid treatment he got so chilled his presidential ambitions—or at least his enthusiasm for making a race of it against Nixon—that the day after last Christmas he withdrew and left Nixon alone in the field.

What he said and what he left unsaid have to be balanced against each other. He said he was no longer a candidate but he didn't say he would object if the Republicans at their convention this summer decided to draft him.

He made no bones about the way Republicans around the country treated him. The professional Republican politicians, that is.

He said: "The great majority of those who will control the Republican convention stand opposed to any contest for the nomination."

But that didn't dim what seemed to be his belief he is a better man for the presidency than Nixon. From that day to this he has never once given his backing to Nixon by name.

And now, just as Nixon is running into some small bumps, comes the news that Rockefeller is going to resume his travels among Republicans around the country.

Nixon, who seemed a shoo-in for the Republicans' presidential nomination at their convention, has stayed pretty mum all year, as if speeches and statements on where he stands would be practically unnecessary till the campaign begins.

This was a little reminiscent—but in reverse — of New York's Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1948 presidential race.

Dewey did a lot of talking in the pre-convention days that year when he was trying to beat Sen. Robert A. Taft and Harold Stassen for the Republican moninations.

When he finally got it he seemed to believe what the pollsters told him: That he was a cinch to beat President Truman.

During the campaign Dewey acted like a man who felt so sure he'd win that he didn't think it necessary to commit himself on the issues or promise much when he got elected.

It was a disaster. Truman worked his head off. His victory over Dewey—it was the second presidential campaign Dewey had lost—sent the governor to the political showers permanently. He's never run for anything since.

Now Nixon doesn't know whether he's hearing the sounds of distant thunder. But a couple of little clouds have drifted across his political sun. His ratings in the polls have dipped.

Last week in total votes cast in the Wisconsin presidential primary he trailed the two Democrats, Sens. John F. Kennedy and Hubert H. Humphrey. True, he didn't campaign in Wisconsin but he was unopposed for the Republican vote.

This week, again running unopposed but this time in the Illinois Republican presidential primary, he was more than 150,000 votes behind the total rolled up by Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas, running unopposed for another Senate term. Nixon didn't campaign in Illinois, either.

But, on the heels of the Illinois results, the Denver (Colo.) Post editorially said "Rockefeller appears to be the most attractive Republican candidate that could be offered to the people of the United States this year. . . ."

Here in Washington some mumbling among Republicans began: That Nixon had better start talking and campaigning before the convention. But Sen. Everett Dirksen, Senate Republican leader, seemed to think things were going just dandy for Nixon.

"I think," Dirksen said, "his present technique is pretty good."

Now Rockefeller will begin moving around again, although this time campaigning in other states for Republicans running for various jobs. And he will take part in ceremonies.

So he'll be getting out among Republicans again. He may not be making a direct pitch for the Republican nomination but he'll be pitching the Rockefeller personality all over the country.

Takes a Heap of Kindness To Make a 'Home' a Home

BY MARIE DAERR

For many a person who is ill, there's no place like home.

So states Dr. Franz Goldmann, associate professor emeritus of medical care at Harvard School of Public Health. Dr. Goldmann talked about health needs of older people at the recent National Health Forum in Miami Beach.

Goldmann predicted that home care programs now successfully serving the poor will become more and more available to sick people of all income brackets. He bases this on the trend toward extending Blue Cross benefits and the growth of group-practice prepayment plans.

"Such programs cover all the services needed by homebound patients," he said. "They encourage teamwork of various kinds of professional and auxiliary personnel. They foster high quality service.

"Properly organized and supervised home care is a good thing for the sick because it keeps them in their usual environment," Goldmann said. "It is care that continues. And it cuts down on the total medical bill."

The doctor points out that home care is effective only if the condition of the sick makes such service necessary, and if both patient and family have the right attitude toward it.

Dr. Mathew Ross, another speaker, criticized those who blame all the emotional disorders of older people on organic changes in the brain, for which nothing can be done. He described five kinds of group therapy which had helped to some extent.

"To treat psychiatric ailments of the elderly, we must take into account the 'normal' mental health of this period of life," said Ross, who is medical director of the American Psychiatric Assn.

"We must also remember that the growth of senescence varies among individuals, and that heredity and constitution help make the psychological picture."

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

Resurrection Life

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D.

An eminent British scholar, Dr. J. Agar Beet, once wrote and published a very large book to prove that the resurrection of Jesus was, as he claimed, "the best attested fact in history."

It is a great many years since I read it, and it is no longer on by book shelves. As far as I can remember, his argument was that the centuries since Christ were unexplainable except upon the fact that Jesus survived the crucifixion and that this quickened the disciples into new activity that changed the course of history.

I do not know about the historical argument, but there can be no question concerning the spiritual reality.

The fact stands that a group of men had left all to follow a Master, largely in the hope that He was going to set up an earthly kingdom.

They were in frustration and gloom when they saw Him die on a cross. As one of them expressed it:

"We trusted it was He who should have redeemed Israel."

Unexplainable, except upon the fact that they believed Jesus to be their living Lord, is the historic fact of their sudden reawakening, the intensity of their new faith as they went forth to conquer the world in accordance with their Lord's commission.

But the account that to me means more than all others is the story in Luke 24 of the two disciples on the way to Emmaus. The miraculous tends to take on legendary embellishments, but what marks this story in Luke is its simple directness and its spiritual quality. It is not a wonder story.

If one wonders how a stranger could join two travelers, become real and communicative and as suddenly disappear, it may be said that in the history of psychic phenomena incidents as strange have occurred.

But the Emmaus story needs no external psychic verification. It bears the mark of its inherent authenticity. It is the spiritual incidence that is its verification.

It is the Easter story that to me brings chiefly the sensing of the risen Christ as a companion on my travels. If He vanishes from sight as of old there is the sense of a living Presence, vivid to the eyes of faith. If we have been "slow of heart to believe," this Presence quickens the vision of "all that the prophets have spoken."

If you doubt it, read Luke 24 again, and join the two on the way to Emmaus, and the One whom they met.

LITTLE LIZ

Changes In Markets, Agrarian Revolution Add Up To Headaches

Changing world markets and a revolution in farming methods have squeezed incomes below the break-even point on many farms.

Farm price trends in recent years reflect the changing supply and demand situation in world markets, points out Harold G. Halcrow, head of the University of Illinois Department of agricultural economics.

Since World War II, farmers around the world have stepped up their production. The result over the past six years has been continued downward pressure on prices.

At the same time, far-reaching changes in farming methods and techniques have been taking place. In the United States during the last 20 years, the number of man-hours worked has dropped one-third while output per man hour has more than doubled. Total sales per farm have more than doubled. And if present trends continue, the number of farms in 1970 will be less than half the number in 1940.

Government can assist in bringing about adjusments needed in modern agriculture, Halcrow points out. But policy makers must give more attention to the kinds of adjustments that are required, he emphasizes.

"Most Needed"

Halcrow suggests these areas of most needed adjustment in United States agriculture at this time.

Young people must be offered broader opportunity. Farming can profitably absorb less than 40 per cent of the young people growing up on farms in this country. Opportunities in agricultural service industries are expanding, however.

Government programs must allow for a "fluid economy," not one that restricts farmers' production and marketing decisions. Programs must be appraised carefully and objectively to see that they will really lead to a more prosperous agriculture.

Tax Reform Needed

In Illinois a reform in the revenue system is needed to relieve the heavy tax load on farm real estate. If other sources of revenue could be found to reduce the burden on farm land, the future of Illinois agriculture would be more favorable.

In appraising the long-term outlook for Illinois agriculture, Halcrow believes several factors provide some favorable signs.

Strong demand is expected to continue for meat and animal products, commodities which Illinois agriculture has an economic advantage in producing.

Could Expand Markets

The St. Lawrence Seaway and industrial development could stimulate growth in the midwest and expand local markets.

With expanding markets will come new opportunities to further develop the marketing and processing system.

The problem of achieving sufficient family farm units will remain important for years to come. Intense competition for land will probably continue. Financing larger units will continue to be an important problem. There is no easy road in the adjustment process, Halcrow concludes.

Three Major Problems

L. H. Simerl, U.I. agricultural economist, says the U.S. faces three major agricultural problems. He sums them up this way:

1. Many farm families have incomes so low that all people should be concerned.

2. Many taxpayers object to the amount of money now being used for farm price and income support programs. They think it could be spent more wisely for other public and personal uses.

3. Some of our present surplus disposal programs are losing friends for us in foreign countries.

Farmers' incomes differ much more than incomes of any other group in America, Simerl points out. In Illinois come farmers make over $10,000 a year while others make less than $2,000.

At least half of all commercial farmers, as defined by the government, can get little benefit from any price support program because their volume of production is so small. The tax-paying public cannot be expected to put up money for programs to help poorer farmers when they see most of it going to help higher income farmers, Simerl said.

An Expensive Program

The farm price support program and related programs cost over $5 billion in the last fiscal year and $19 billion for the last five years. This does not include amounts spent for conservation, rural electrification, farm credit, research and education, reclamation, school lunches or interest on national debt to finance farm support programs.

"Our wealthy nation can afford this much and more. But is it good use of the people's money?" Simerl asks.

Food and other aid from the Untied States after World War II helped keep much of western Europe from going communist. The informed people in these countries appreciate this assistance, Simerl believes.

Big Subsidies For Wheat

Now, however, many friendly countries think our farm programs have injured their economies. Our government sells wheat to foreign buyers for 50 to 70 cents a bushel below what U.S. millers pay. Friendly wheat-producing countries, such as Canada, Australia and France, feel that this is unfair condition. They cannot afford to pay similar export subsidies to their wheat growers.

When our price support programs hold prices above the world market, they attract exports from other countries. This leads to restrictions on imports. The exporting countries feel that if we are their friend we should buy from them. They want to sell to us so that they can buy from us.

So the problem is not one of lowering our living standards, but raising our standards, holding old friends and making new ones, Simerl concludes.

Junior Livestock Judging Contest In Springfield

The state junior livestock showmanship and judging contest, sponsored by the Land of Lincoln breeding association, will be held at the fairgrounds in Springfield Saturday.

Many 4-H clubs of this area will be represented at the all-day meeting, which begins at 10 a.m.

The Morgan county 4-H agriculture committee has decided not to hold a county livestock judging contest this year. Instead, the scores made by individuals at Saturaday's show will be used to determine membership in the county team.

The morning period will be devoted to instructions in grooming, fitting and showing beef, swine and sheep. In the afternoon the youngsters present will judge nine rings of livestock: three each of beef, swine and sheep.

Farm Adviser George Trull and his assistant, Bob Hayward, Jr., will assist in the management of the day's program.

New Vertical Silage Elevator Designed

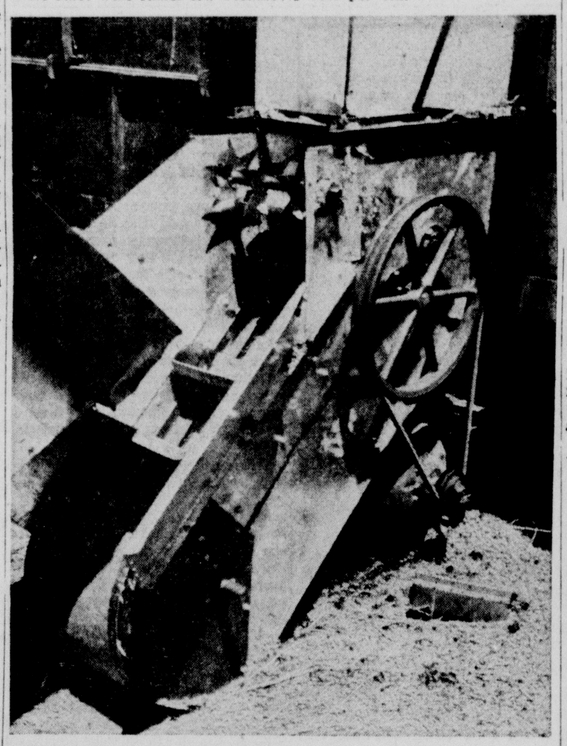
A towering, all-purpose vertical silage elevator that will lift chopped corn silage, grass silage or small grains has passed rugged test trials at the University of Illinois.

The elevator is designed to work with either forked flights or buckets, explains Floyd Herum, U. of I. agricultural engineer. The forked flights elevate forages. Buckets handle both grains and forages.

Last fall a test elevator equipped with forked flights poured 72 tons of chopped corn silage into a 46-foot silo at rates of 20 to 23 tons per hour. These rates were rather low because the silage was dry.

In other tests a similar elevator equipped with buckets elevated 12 tons of chopped alfalfa per hour. Later the same buckets elevated 10 tons of high-moisture shelled corn per hour to a height of 40 feet.

The vertical giant is powered by a five horsepower electric motor. In all tests power costs ran less than ½ cent per ton.



KEY TO THE ELEVATOR'S success is a special intake section tilted upward at a 45-degree angle. The design minimizes wedging and sticking—a problem that has stymied previous attempts to design a working vertical silage elevator.

Since the new elevator is mounted on wheels, it is easily towed from one place to another. And, using the tractor power-take-off to operate a lifting winch, two men can put it up in 30 minutes.

Herum says there has long been a need for a general-purpose vertical elevator. Forage blowers require large power units and have definite height limitations. They often crack small grains.

Conventional inclined elevators, used widely for grain, baled hay and even chopped forage, require excessive length for tall structures.

Farmers Invited To Attend Spring Outlook Meeting

The annual spring livestock outlook meeting will be held at Farm Bureau hall Wednesday, April 20, at Farm Bureau hall, announces Farm Adviser George Trull. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting, which will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Don Walker of the animal science department will represent the U.I. Extension service. He will discuss the economic outlook for the next six months or more, livestock numbers and available feed supplies.

Representing the St. Louis Producers Marketing association will be either Ed Lamb, fieldman, or Joe L. Fairbairn, cattle salesman for the cooperative. The speaker will discuss the results of the annual spring survey of cattle numbers on feed and marketing intentions as determined by replies received from their customers in Illinois, Missouri and Arkansas.

Near Deadline For Sowing 1960 Oats

Is it too late to sow oats?

Most of the farmers in Morgan county think so and it becomes a near certainty that the largest acreage of corn and soybeans in the history of the county will be planted this spring.

Some operators, however, plan to sow oats if they can get it done this week. They don't agree that oats are a "poor crop." They want legumes in their rotation and use oats as a nurse crop; some of them want the straw and others would like to use the harvested field for late pasture.

The agronomy department of the College of Agriculture agrees that April 17 is a very late date to sow oats in central Illinois. The yield averages over the years show that the best oats in this section are planted March 1-15. From then on yield suffers.

The department now estimates that if oats are sown this week no better than 65-70% yield can be expected. After April 15 the curve yield plunges downward, and oats sown after May 1 ordinarily make only a 20-25% crop.

But, the department is quick to add, who knows what kind of weather we'll have between now and July.

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

DEMAND FOR CORN REMAINS STRONG

Recent prices for corn were near loan levels at many Illinois points, but were generally lower than support levels west of the Mississippi River. If prices rise to near the loan levels west of the river, they should go well above the support level in Illinois.

Farmers have put more corn under support this year than they did in 1958-59. They had pledged 378 million bushels for price support loans by March 1 of this year, 25 percent more than a year before.

Export sales are strong. Export totaled 100 million bushels from October 1 through March 20. This amount was 3 percent more than a year before. These exports are being made with very little subsidy. In other words, corn is selling largely on the basis of its value in international markets. (By contrast, wheat prices are propped at 50 to 65 cents a bushel above international prices.

CCC selling of corn has been small. Sales from October 1 through March 27 amounted to only 52 million bushels compared with 110 million a year before. These sales figures include all dispositions, including payment-in-kind export subsidies.

About two-fifths of the CCC sales have been for export, and three-fifths for domestic use. Last year the proportion sold for export was slightly less than two-fifths.

Iowa has been having difficulties with wet corn, but managed to get 113 million bushels under loan by March 1. By the same date Illinois farmers had placed only 69 million bushels under price support. Nebraska turned 77 million bushels into cash via the price support route. Three other states—Indiana, Minnesota and Missouri—each had nearly 25 million bushels under loan.

The cut in winter and spring farrowings will tend to limit the disappearance of corn. On the other hand, farmers are fattening a record number of cattle. And because the cold, late spring has delayed the development of pastures and ranges, more grain is required.

The big supplies of roughage stored on many ranches last fall have been largely depleted. In the eastern half of the county, many farmers have short supplies of hay and silage.

Farmers were feeding 9 percent more cattle on January 1 than they were a year before, and they seem likely to keep about that many more on feed through the spring and summer.

While the 1960 spring pig crop is about 12 percent smaller than last year, the hog-corn price ratio is around 15 to 1. This ratio is favorable for the heavy feeding of hogs, as is the large supply of wet corn.

The use of corn for poultry feed may not increase as much in 1960 as it has in recent years, but it will hold at a very high level.

The spring reopening of the St. Lawrence Seaway may provide some strength for corn prices in northern Illinois. In the southern part of the state, prices will receive support from the demand for poultry, hog and cattle feed in the south and southeast.

FARMERS UNION TO MEET TUESDAY

The Cass County Farmers Union will meet at the American Legion building in Virginia at 8 p.m. Tuesday. County Clerk Leo Fitzgerald and County Treasurer Gus Carls will discuss county taxes and finances. Refreshments will follow a question and answer period.

A University of Illinois agricultural economist says tenant farmers on the most productive Illinois land have investments of $14,000 to $17,000. This total includes machinery, livestock, feed, grain and seeds.

Launch Farm Research Projects In Illinois

A seven-point research program designed to develop new uses for agricultural products and to investigate new uses for agricultural products and to investigate marketing procedures has been launched in Illinois.

The project was promoted by the Illinois Agricultural association and is being paid for from an appropriation of $250,000 set aside for the purpose by the 71st Illinois assembly. It is administered by Stillman J. Stanard, director of the state department of agriculture.

1. Pricing and trading practices for Illinois hogs.
2. Development of corn carbohydrate coatings to control shrink and to preserve quality of meat, fruits and vegetables.
3. Marketing tree-ripened peaches, with the development of containers suitable for hydro-cooling.
4. Egg marketing methods, practices and pricing.
5. Expansion of markets for eggs, with emphasis on quality control and united industry merchandising.
6. Quality factors affecting the marketing of milk and cream for processing.
7. Use of blood groups as an aid in selecting swine for carcass quality.

Members of the advisory board include Stanard, Dr. Louis B. Howard, U. I. agriculture dean; Russell Lamoreux, IAA director, Lanard; John Flautt, Jersey State bank president, and W. B. Peterson, IAA secretary of marketing.

Illinois farmers plan to grow a record share of the nation's corn in 1960. They plan to plant 10,362,000 acres this year, which would be 12.1 percent of the U. S. total acreage of corn. Last year Illinois farmers planted 11.8 percent of the nation's corn.

It takes at least five years of extensive testing and costs at least a million dollars to put a new agricultural chemical on the market.

ACROSS THE Fields AND Furrows

PLAY IT SAFE!

When you see a child riding a tractor, what's your reaction? Do you think he's having a good time and let it go at that, or does it worry you because of the danger to the child? The National Safety Council frequently gets reports of youngsters killed or injured while riding tractors. Don't let it happen in your family.

IS INCORPORATION THE ANSWER?

High capital needs, taxes and inheritance problems are creating an intense interest in the farm corporation among many Illinois farm families.

N. G. P. Krausz, reports that the corporate organization offers real advantages in some cases. It permits a simple transfer of ownership by means of stock shares. It also allows continuous operation in case a shareholder leaves the business or dies.

But a farm corporation is not all honey and roses, Krausz pointed out. A corporation has certain organization costs, state franchise taxes and legal obligations to meet in carrying on its business. It must elect a board of directors and officers and make annual reports to the state.

FROM THE CORN CRIB

He was tearing around the house, getting set for the great event, when his mother reminded him he hadn't taken his bath.

"Bath?" he howled, outraged, I" got no time for a bath! I've just got 5 minutes and you have to teach me to dance!"

What To Do With Easter Lily?—Plant It!

URBANA—Post-Easter care of lilies is important if you plan to transplant them to the garden in the late spring.

C. E. Ackerman, University of Illinois floriculture specialist, says to give the plants plenty of water but not to keep the soil wet. Discard the excess water that drains into the container under the flower pot.

Rain water is especially good for lilies because it contains only a small amount of dissolved solids. Hard water is satisfactory and tends to make a mellow soil. If hard water contains excessive chlorine, you can boil it and cool it to room temperature before using.

"Softened" water is least desirable because the process usually removes some iron, calcium and magnesium and adds sodium. This water is good for many household uses, but not for use on house plants.

If the lower plant leaves begin to turn light green, put a little nitrogen fertilizer on the soil. Use one-fourth teaspoon of ammonium sulfate dissolved in one quart of water. Apply about one-fourth pint of this solution to a six-inch flower pot.

Keep lilies at about 65-68° F. Give them plenty of light, but keep them out of direct sunshine. Sun rays passing through a window glass can burn the tender leaves of the lily.

After the frost-free date, you can transplant lilies outdoors in a place where they will receive at least five hours of sunshine daily. Be sure that the garden site has good air circulation and that the soil is well drained, fertile and has good water-supplying capacity.

GOOF ON GENDER

Purpose of the exhibit was to show the effects of dope. However, Clarence became healthier and the day before the show opened "Clarence" gave girth to six rats.

When Napoleon abdicated in 1814, France granted him an annual income of two million francs on which to live in exile.

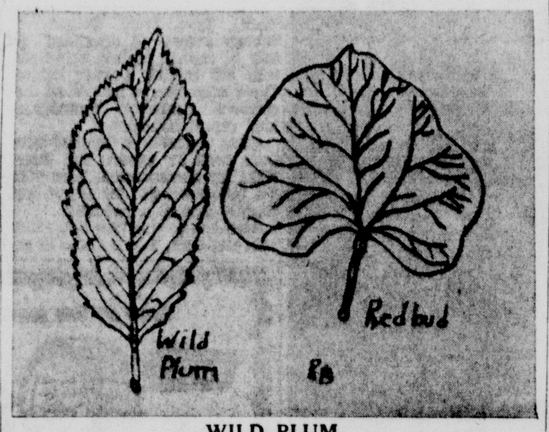
Wonder World — Know These In Bloom?

By Rip Barnsdall



WILD PLUM

These trees will be in bloom about this time of year.

The plum came to this country from Europe. It was brought over as a fruit tree, and then spread out to grow in the wilds.

REDBUD

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

The first manned flights beyond earth's atmosphere will of necessity be short so the conserving of food and water, and the disposal of waste will be no problem.

On flights that are only long enough to make one or two meals needed standard inflight meals might be used. For longer flights dehydrated (dried out) foods could save space but extra water would be needed for rehydration.

For this reason water recovery is considered of prime importance. Without food man can last for some time if he has enough water. But without water he can last only a short time no matter how much food he could get. This is because the human body is 98 per cent water, and this water is being lost all the time.

The human body has to be 98% water in order for the millions of cells that make up the body to get food and oxygen. This water is also used to remove cell wastes from the body. So if a man ate nothing but dehydrated food he would soon become quite a bit like what he ate!

The American Machine and Foundry Company, of Chicago, Ill., has completed a study of water recovery, under contract from the Wright Air Development Center. This study shows that, for one or two men for periods of over two and a half days, a vacuum distillation method would be desirable for water recovery. Ion exchange and/or absorption would be used to take out any impurities left after distillation.

For more than two men, up to seven days, it is advisable to carry extra water. As a result of this study more work is being planned to find devices more practical for flights of more than two men for more than seven days. An investigation of means to sterilize the recovered water is also planned.

For longer flights water recovery from solids in wastes, both human and garbage, is being studied. In this area two contracts have been let by WADC, one with the American Machine and Foundry Company for a waste collection unit, and one with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a study of possible methods of recovering usable materials from solid wastes.

All these methods have been used, either in business or in laboratories, or both. In developing this equipment of space travel the problem was making it all work as a self-contained unit and be compact enough to fit into a small space ship.

Because meals in space will not be a problem for some time to come (since man won't be in space long enough on the first few trips) research and development in this area are still in the planning stage. In some cases information collected over many years can be used. This includes information on the proper conditions for storing and handling foods to maintain high quality, safe and nutritionally (nourishing) useful feeding.

In other cases the answers will have to wait until the first space flight, or flights, are made, such as study of the effects on weightlessness on nutritional physiology.

Missionary Barrel

By Mrs. Otto Dorr

Part 3: Any Use?

Meanwhile the dingy, ragged old basque, tossed aside on a chair, spilled a few beads instead of tears.

"I am only a worn out rag," it thought, "They liked everything else, but no one wants me. I cannot be even a duster, my beads would scratch the organ; why did they put me in that barrel, I am no use at all."

Another thread broke letting more beads roll on the floor, as Mrs. Grey began to put the room in order, but she brushed them away with the dust, then moved the chairs back into rows.

"Why, here is that old velvet waist! Shall I put it in the stove?" she wondered, but she asked aloud, "Let me take it home; perhaps I can use it someday for my Crazy Quilt. It needs little pieces only; I could find bits of nice velvet in this."

It was years before there were enough silk or satin pieces and no other bit of velvet at all; however, slowly, block after block was finished and put together into a shining quilt.

During this time, too, the thick, warm quilt that traveled in the barrel grew thin and worn about its once trim edges. Blocks had to be renewed and the pretty calico back needed mending.

Quilt Show

At length an heirloom quilt show was arranged; a sample of the fragile calico came and strangely enough the shining Crazy Quilt arrived to hang beside it.

"Oh," whispered a nearby black velvet bit, "I know you! We traveled side by side in that Missionary Barrel so long ago. I am part of that dingy old basque; do you remember me?"

There were stories about the many, many heirloom quilts and block patterns, but last of all the speaker pointed to these two, the calico fragment and the scrap saved from the all but useless velvet waist, to tell of their coming in the Missionary Barrel.

Part 2: Puss's Secret

My hostess did not show a trace
Of putting me in great disgrace,
It felt quite fine, but e're I slept,
Upon a rose pink couch I crept.

My hostess then uprose and said:
"No, no, my honey, off that bed."
So then up stairs I took my feet,
And there my nap was quite complete.

One cannot think whereon I slept,
This secret I have always kept;
It was upon a flat-topped trunk;
I slept as though it was my bunk.

At five my hostess called me down,
I woke and looked me all around,
I felt that homesick in my head,
I scarce could get up off that bed.

But just let out a tiny mew,
I heard my hostess say, that day
No sweeter mew had come her way.

My voice is pitched so very high,
That even tho the weather's dry
There is great promise I shall sing,
And later make the back woods ring.

And all who hear should give a wail;
A dog came to the door that night,

Single Ended Final Amplifier

By JOSEPH A. SMITH

Part 2: Go Straight Through

For the sake of minimum harmonic amplification and transfer to the antenna it is always wisest to operate the final amplifier straight through.

We've previously stated that it is Always necessary to neutralize a triode final amplifier to prevent it from "Taking off like a big bird"—self oscillating. Quiet often you will also find that many screen grid tubes will also have to be neutralized (in spite of what the book says!)

In any event, if much 10 or 6 meter operation is anticipated you would be wise at least to check the stability of a tetrode final amplifier. Neutralizing these tubes is a relatively simple task since the troublesome inter-electrode capacitance within the tube is much less than found within a triode tube.

To be sure, Neutralize on the highest frequency to be used. See handbook for neutralization procedure.

Moving Around The Bands

When you were a Novice you were required to control the frequency of your transmitter with a fixed frequency crystal. But very soon the holder of a General or Conditional ticket will want to build (or buy) a Variable Frequency Oscillator in order to move around within any given band.

While there are many types of circuits used, perhaps the two most successful one are the so called High-Capacitance Colpitts and the "Clapp" series tuned Colpitts oscillator circuits. The former uses a parallel tuned circuit in the grid, and the latter a series tuned one.

Either, if ruggedly constructed of good parts, is usually quite stable one it's allowed to warm up. Regulated voltage should be used on the oscillator for real stability and at least one buffer stage should be placed between the oscillator and the final amplifier load.

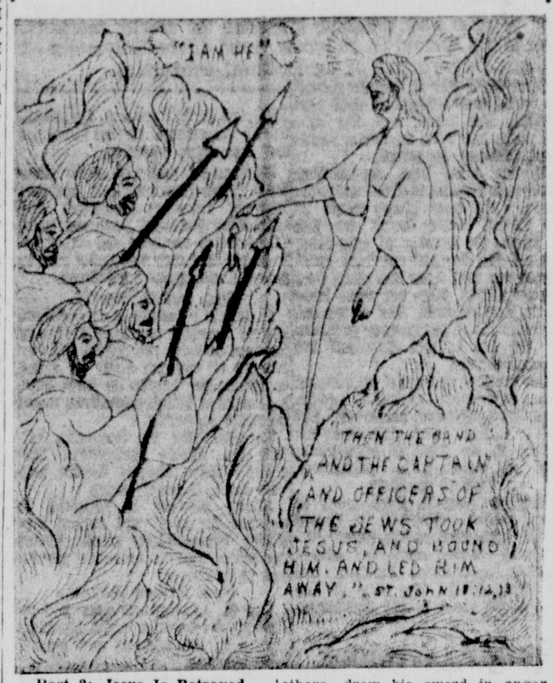
The Easter Story

By Mary Pence Claywell



Part 2: Jesus Is Betrayed

Then Jesus, in faith and courage, as the soldiers sought their prey . . . went calmly forth to meet them, though He could have slipped away!

"Whom seek ye?" The Master asked them, and the men stepped back in fear as they answered, "Jesus of Nazareth!"

"I AM HE," came the answer clear!

Then Judas stepped forward and kissed Him, betraying our Lovely Lord, and the soldiers roughly seized Him, in sinister accord!

Then Peter who'd slept with the others, drew his sword in anger and fear, and striking a high priest's servant, he severed the sinner's ear; but Jesus sadly rebuked him and healed the wounded one . . . yet the soldiers untouched by His mercy, seized hold of God's Precious Son!

Christ's followers quickly departed, bowed down with fear and regret, and they searched for a place of hiding . . . in the shadows of Olivet.

Famous Birthday

By Gerald Lawless

Shakespeare was born on April 23, 1564, in Stratford-on-Avon, England, which was a small thriving community. He was baptised in the Trinity Church, where he was buried after death.

His father was a tanner and a glovemaker, a butcher, and a buyer and seller of lumber and corn. His mother was Mary Arden Shakespeare and was a daughter of a prosperous farmer.

Young Will went to school in Stratford. The grammar schools in those days were equal to our high school education.

He married Ann Hathaway when he was 19 and was 6 or 7 years younger than she. After they were married for a few years, Wm. Shakespeare went to London for 25 years. During this time he visited his wife only a few times.

They had 3 children: a girl, Sousana and twins. The girl twin was Judith and the boy was Hamnet. The boy died in 1598. Sousana married a doctor, John Hall, in 1607. Judith married Thomas Quincy in 1616.

One of Shakespeare's first jobs in London was holding the reins of people's horses while they went to plays. Through the years while he was in London he wrote 37 plays, 154 connets (14 lines each in length), and 5 long narrative plays.

He became part owner of the Globe Theater in London. When he returned home he bought a costly house and named it the New Place.

There are over 400 references to music in Wm. Shakespeare's works. His plays were very popular in London.

Wm. Shakespeare died the same year that his daughter, Judith, married.

Among his plays are Merchant of Venice, Taming of the Shrew, Romeo and Juliet; Much Ado About Nothing; King Henry IV, Hamlet, Macbeth, Othello, King Lear and Julius Caesar.

"Tests on our own land showed us Heptachlor is best for corn soil insect control"
G. E. Hulting & Son, Geneseo, Illinois
G. E. Hulting & Son used Heptachlor to control corn rootworms and wireworms on 300 acres of corn in 1959. They applied a liquid spray, broadcast, and disked it in. They also treated the seed used on all of their acreage with Heptachlor 25% wettable powder. Mr. Cyril Hulting says, "An experiment station test on our own land proved Heptachlor is the best soil insecticide. Check plots were treated with Heptachlor and another material. The Heptachlor treated plots showed much better standability and yield. Last October we had an example of how good plant breeding and soil insect control can improve standability. Our corn stood up in a windstorm strong enough to uproot a large tree near our home farm."

Chris Ringhausen Heads Jersey And Greene Directors

JERSEYVILLE — Chris Ringhausen was named president of the Board of Education of Community District No. 100 at the organization meeting of the board Wednesday evening of this week. During the past year, Hubert Mourning of Kane served as president of the board. Ringhausen was reelected to the Board of Education at the annual election held Saturday.

Mrs. Janet Gorecki, who was appointed secretary of the board in March was elected to that position Wednesday evening. Committees were not appointed Wednesday evening. The board voted to set the regular meetings for the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month with the sessions to convene at 8 p.m. on each occasion.

Monday, Aug. 29, was designated as the opening date of the 1960-61 school term.

The application of Lois Wright and Charles Dudley Roth as substitute bus drivers were approved.

Prior to the organization session, the former Board of Education canvassed the vote of last Saturday's election which returned Ringhausen and Gisy to the board and elected new members. The new members are Mrs. Rachel Loar of Jerseyville and William Golman of Fieldon.

THE 10,000TH TELEPHONE served by the Jacksonville exchange of the General Telephone Company of Illinois has been installed in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Duffer of 704 South East street. Mr. and Mrs. Duffer selected a turquoise telephone for their home and Robert Garner, local combinationman, completed the installation.

In 1944 there were approximately 3,500 telephones in Jacksonville. The number increased to 8,000 by 1955.

"The telephone service record for Jacksonville has been one of continued growth and improvement," Prye said. The conversion to dial operation in 1955 was followed by the establishment of Nationwide Direct Distance Dialing in September of 1959. Substantial cable additions are planned for 1960 and 1961 in order to meet an ever-increasing demand for service.

This Week.. at Dixon Springs

Shearing Time

Each year we shear the sheep flock before the pasture season. Shearing was already in full swing during the last week in March. From April 4-7, some 40 student shearers used the Station flock as they learned to shear under the direction of Harry Russell, Dick Carlisle, Terry Greathouse and Don Walker, extension livestock specialists at the University of Illinois.

There were two schools, each lasting two days. The students, boys taking high school agriculture, learned to keep the sheep under control for easier shearing. They learned how to get the fleece off in one piece without costly short, second cuts and without cutting or hurting the ewe. Equally important, the boys were taught how to package and care for the wool.

What the students learned at this school will stand them in good stead as they shear their own flocks and as some of them go on to custom shearing for their neighbors.

Tree-Planting Time

Bob Nelson, extension forester, has the tree planter rolling on the farm demonstrations to show how mechanized equipment can do the otherwise tedious job of planting trees.

To Plant Wishy-Washy

Wishy-washy—that's an area on the Dixon Springs Experiment Station with nothing but washes, tickle grass and weedy sprouts. It will get the Bob Nelson treatment on Tuesday, April 19. Bob plans to plant white, red and Scotch Christmas tree stock. You all are invited to see the planting operation. Bob will be on hand to demonstrate the mechanical planter and to discuss forestry practices from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and again from 1 to 3 p.m.

From year to year, as you visit the Station, you will be able to follow the growth of the different varieties and observe the effects of different management and harvesting systems. Don't forget the date—April 19.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Pitser of Louisiana, Mo., a brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom. After a short wedding trip they will be at the home of the bridegroom. Mr. Grimsley is foreman of the C.B. & Q. railway, with headquarters in Decatur.

A committee has been formed to make plans for a Lincoln Memorial Museum in Pittsfield. Clay L. Irick, president of the Pittsfield Jaycees, who are sponsoring this idea, presided at the meeting. Those appointed on the committee are Mrs. L. J. Litvan, Mrs. Almarena Grote, Warren Winston and Earl Zimmerman.

Cancer Crusade

The "C Day" or Cancer Crusade day in Pittsfield will be on Friday, April 22. A volunteer will call at every home in Pittsfield for contributions to the Cancer Fund. The goal is set for $3,065. The money raised will be divided 30 per cent for education, 30 per cent for research, 23 per cent for service to cancer patients, 9 per cent for fund raising and 8 per cent for administration purposes.

The Crusade in Pittsfield is sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Old Orchard Country Club, with Mrs. James Clark and Mrs. Rex Dinsmore as co-chairmen.

Cincinnati won only 19 of 75 NBA basketball games last season. Things could be better next season if Oscar Robertson turns pro after the Olympics in Rome.

Battle For Expanded Coastal Waters—

The Law of the Sea is at issue in a Geneva conference sponsored by the United Nations. Particular stumbling block is the demand of Communist nations for greater jurisdiction over their territorial waters. Present law gives each country a 3-mile limit off shore. Proposals have been made to extend the limit to either 6 or 12 miles to keep foreign fishing fleets out of coastal waters. Russia has adopted the 12-mile limit and her satellites generally back her. United States and Canada support a 6-mile limit. The U.S. contends 116 international straits throughout the world might be closed by a 12-mile limit, 52 others by a 6-mile limit. Map above shows 18 straits which the U.S. Navy fears might be closed to American warships and therefore unfavorable to maneuverability if limits of territorial waters are widened.

WHAT MAKES A ROOM "GOOD?"

We are frequently asked, "What is it that makes a good room good? What are the underlying decorating factors that insure success?" Offhand we'd say that it's attention to details . . . the fitness of background colors, of every piece of furniture and every accessory, even the smallest, to the room's function and decorative purpose.

In a truly successful room, the room and everything in it is in perfect harmony. The colors merge together without appearing to be a studied arrangement, and the furniture fits into the room as if it had been made especially for it.

Each room presents its own decorating and furnishing problems. Some rooms will be too long and narrow with large areas of unbroken wall space, others will have the wall space chopped up with poorly placed windows and doors.

In the bedroom sketched above a small isolated window presented an arrangement problem. This was solved by banking a variety of chests of varying heights along the wall and making the window to appear to be an integral part of the grouping. This also solved a storage dilemma in a shared bedroom.

Don't buy furniture unless you are sure! Sure that the styling is good, the craftsmanship expert, and the value sound. We offer you that kind of surety with every purchase you make from us. Our prices are always commensurate with quality. So do make us your furniture headquarters won't you?

Linda Lou Claus

PITTSFIELD—Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Claus announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Linda Lou, to Elza Charles Lacy, son of the Park Lacy Sr.'s of Pittsfield.

An early June wedding is planned.

The bride-elect attended Purdue University where she was a member of Sigma Kappa social sorority. She is a graduate of Hardin Brown Business College, Jacksonville, and is medical secretary at Passavant Memorial Area Hospital in that city.

Mr. Lacy is a graduate of University of Illinois and presently associated with Illinois Agricultural Association. He is currently working with LaSalle County Farm Bureau at Ottawa.

Mrs. John Samuel Meyer

Carol Lee Gerdes And John Samuel Meyer Wed

Miss Carol Lee Gerdes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gerdes of Alexander, and John Samuel Meyer of this city, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon, April third. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Meyer, 1425 South West street, Jacksonville.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Harvey Dibrell at Centenary Methodist church before friends and relatives of the couple. Bouquets of flowers contrasted with the palm and fern banked altar.

Members of the bride's party were preceded to the altar by the small flower girl, little Joann Wahl of Pleasant Plains, cousin of the bride, and the ringbearer, David Mansfield, White Hall, nephew of the bridegroom.

The bride's sister, Mrs. James Hall, was matron of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Donald Mansfield of White Hall, was bridesmatron. They were gowned alike in ballerina length lavender nylon organdy over matching crisp taffeta. Each carried a nosegay of white and lavender carnations.

Gowned In Satin And Lace

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of white satin with imported lace and tulle. The long sleeved dress featured full length lace panniers at either side. Worn with the gown, made by the bride's mother, was a blusher veil of illusion flowing from a jeweled crown studded with seed pearls and sequins. Her only jewel accessories were pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible overlaid with a purple throated orchid tied with satin ribbons.

Receive At Church

A reception was held in the parlors of the church immediately following the ceremony. Guests were served cake and fruit punch. The lavender trimmed white frosted four tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The punch was tinted lavender and mints were lavender and white. Carnations and greenry encircled the base of the cake.

Mrs. Robert Chapman cut and served cake; Mrs. Robert Hendericker, Gillespie, Miss Patricia Hendericker, Springfield, served punch. Mrs. Bill Kinnett and Mrs. Merle Kearn, Alexander, were in charge of gifts and Miss Cathy Yeager, Petersburg, registered guests.

Mrs. Meyer graduated from Ashland High School in 1959 and is employed by Central National Life Insurance Company in Jacksonville. The bridegroom graduated in 1958 from Jacksonville High School and is employed by Kroger Company in this city.

Greene-Jersey Conference To Discuss Aging

JERSEYVILLE — The program for the meeting on the White House Conference on Aging for Jersey, Greene and Calhoun counties has been completed and the meeting will be held at the court house in Jerseyville Thursday, April 21, at 2 p.m. It will be open to the public.

It is planned that as a result of this meeting reports can be made which will point out some of the needs of the aging in this area.

It is interesting that in the bill passed by Congress authorizing the White House Conference on Aging, the "aging" are considered to be persons 45 years or age or over, because it is at this age that persons begin to experience difficulty in securing employment. Many employers will not accept applications for employment from persons in this age bracket.

Several speakers have been obtained for the meeting including Dr. Dailey of Carrollton on health problems of aging; Mr. Gus Roth of Jerseyville on educational opportunities for adults; Mr. Edgar Lehen of the Social Security office on income maintenance; Attorney Paul Durr and Mrs. Harris of Hardin on housing and Reverend H. L. Janvrin of Roodhouse on personal adjustment

Jones Should Have Known Better Than To Underrate Ernie Banks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Sam Jones, ace of the San Francisco pitching staff, escorted Ernie Banks through the new spacious Giant dressing room at Candlestick Park. When the Chicago shortstop departed, Jones commented:

Banks, most valuable player in the National League for two years, belted a grand slammer in the fourth inning and the Cubs won Thursday night 6-5.

It was the second night in a row a Banks homer has helped the Cubs win. The first came at Los Angeles.

The Chicagoans in pre-season were lightly rated, but the Cubs feel themselves a much improved outfit.

The Cubs have a new manager, Charley Grimm, who first joined the team in 1924 and has been its field boss three times.

He feels several trades made the club better balanced and more solid.

Thomas had three hits against the Giants and a home run the night before in Los Angeles. He's playing left field where he wants to be instead of third base, his previous post.

Grimm feels George Altman, a 6-feet-4 first baseman, will erase Cub problems there. Altman, in only his second year in the majors, feels well and has power.

Ashburn, though slowing up a bit at 33, can still get on base. He doubled and walked against the Giants, and has six hits in 13 times this season.

And, of course, there's Banks . . . The only shortstop ever to hit more than 40 home runs in a season. He's done it four times.

He led the league last year in runs batted in (143) and established two major league fielding records for a shortstop last season — best percentage (.985) and fewest errors (12).

52 Cars Entered Friday For 44th 500-Mile Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — With the entry list closing at midnight, 52 cars had been entered Friday in the 44th 500-mile race May 30 at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Tony Hu'man, president of the venerable track, said eight or ten additional entries probably were mailed ahead of the deadline.

Cars were entered Friday by Myron E. Osborn, Denver; Bob Sorenson, Montebello, Calif.; Karl Hall, Orleans, Ind., and C. O. Prather, Arvadia, Calif.

Bob Wilke of Milwaukee confirmed that the 1959 Indianapolis winning car will be driven this year by Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif., the 1952 national big car champion who has not raced here since 1952. A new car is being built for Rodger Ward of Indianapolis, who drove last year's winner.

The starters will be the 33 fastest cars in time trials May 14, 15, 21 and 22.

LOU JOHNSON OKAY

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Chicago Cub outfielder Lou Johnson isn't ready yet to play but is all right and is working out again, Cubs Manager Charlie Grimm said Friday.

GLO-BAL NOW AVAILABLE

WICHITA, Kan. — The National Baseball Congress today announced that its illuminous baseball, the "Glo-Bal", is now available to teams for the 1960 season. The ball which has more visibility than the present standard one, has been approved for 1960 leagues and tournaments.

The baseballs are bright orange and may be obtained at athletic goods stores or by contacting National Baseball Congress, Wichita, Kan.

Millikin Triumphs Twice Over Blueboys

Millikin's diamond aggregation combined stingy pitching along with potent stickwork to annex victories number three and four of the season via a twin-bill verdict over Coach Joe Brooks' IC Blueboys Friday afternoon at Illinois College.

Mike Jorstad limited the losers to three hits in the first game as the Big Blue pounded out 12 hits off two IC hurlers for a 13-3 win.

Tony Lents went the five inning route in the second game which was cut short due to darkness and checked the Blueboys on three hits in posting a 3-0 shutout victory.

Tom Phillips started for IC in the opener and went three and 1/3 innings before Ken Stone relieved and finished up with seven strikeouts and a lone walk to his credit. Phillips walked four and fanned one in his stint on the mound.

IC's only runs of the afternoon came in the fifth inning of the first game. Catcher Dale Bellovich opened with a double and moved to third on Brian Koontz' single. Bobby Volk then brought Bellovich home on a fielder's choice which was bobbled allowing Koontz to take third. On a pickoff play to catch Volk stealing second, the catcher heaved the ball into centerfield which brought Koontz home and sent Volk scuddying to third. The centerfielder tried to catch Volk going to third but the low throw got past the third sacker and Volk scored IC's third and final run of the day.

Neal Hart, IC's second game starter, got the loss and allowed only two runs in his four innings of work. Hart walked one and struck out two. Ken Mock worked the final inning for the Blueboys, fanning one and getting charged with an earned run.

Lents, displaying a good fast ball and a tantalizing curve ball, got seven IC batters via the strikeout route and gave up only one free pass.

DARK GLAD PILOT PROBLEM SOLVED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The resignation of Eddie Sawyer and the hiring of Gene Mauch to replace him as manager of the Philadelphia Phillies Thursday brought this comment from Al Dark:

"When Sawyer resigned, it was the greatest thing he ever did for me. Now I can come to the ballpark every day and concentrate on the game without somebody asking me, 'When are you going to take over the Phillies?'"

The veteran third baseman has been frequently mentioned as the eventual Phils' pilot since he was acquired from the Chicago Cubs in the off-season.

SEEKS TITLE SHOT

BERLIN (AP) — Gustav (Bubi) Scholz, the European middleweight boxing champion, flew to New York Friday, seeking a shot at the world's title.

BADGERS TRIUMPH, 14-2

CHICAGO (AP) — Lefthander Bill Richards struck out 19 men Friday and pitched Wisconsin to a 14-2 baseball victory over the University of Chicago.

Richards walked three and yielded five hits. Dale Hackbart led the Badger offense with two homers, a double and two singles, driving in four runs.

Miteff Scores 6th Round TKO Over Warner

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Pudy Alex Miteff recovered from the shock of a bloodied face and hurt pride in the fourth round and pummeled young Don Warner for a sixth-round technical knockout Friday night.

Big Alex, the so-so Argentine, landed a hard left to Warner's body midway in the fourth round and followed with a fast right and left combinations to the face that stunned the young Philadelphian. Miteff followed that with hard lefts, coupled with solid body punches that spelled the end for Warner two rounds later.

It was Warner's decision not to continue after the fifth round. Under New Jersey rules the bout goes as a sixth-round TKO.

Warner's decision came as no surprise. In the fifth round Miteff worked him over so thoroughly that it appeared Warner hardly knew where he was. Big Alex, who sustained cuts over his left eye, the middle of his brow, and the bridge of his nose in the second round, started power punching again in the fifth and Warner responded with little more than token rebuttal.

Miteff, collecting his third victory of the year, now has a 22-5-1 record. This was his 13th victory by KO. Warner, who fought a draw in his only previous bout this year, now is 10-2-2.

A crowd of about 1,800 sat in on the bout, judged solely by the referee under New Jersey rules, which was telecast nationally from Convention Hall.

Mauch Likes To Win And Expects Phils To Do It

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gene Mauch, new manager of the Philadelphia Phillies, said Friday — his first day on the job—"the only kind of baseball I like is the winning kind, and that's what I expect my team to do."

Sun-tanned, smiling "and really enthused and happy," the 34-year-old Mauch scoffed at preseason polls that placed the Phillies in the National League cellar.

"I don't believe it," he told newsmen at International Airport after alighting from a Miami plane. "I think we will do much better. In fact, I know it."

Mauch, hired for two years, indicated he'll play the game by eye and ear as he settles into Sawyer's shoes.

Mauch said over the past few years, while managing the Minneapolis Millers in the American Assn. and previously as a major league infielder, he had seen most of the Phillies ballplayers in action.

Mauch's first managerial job was at Atlanta in 1953 "but it was too early for me. I wasn't ready yet, though I learned a lot there."

In 1958 he got the Minneapolis appointment, after getting more experience as a player and bench jockey. He won the Little World Series that year, finished second last year.

NL Had Friday Off After 3 Days Of Action That Produced 341,809 Fans

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The National League took a day off Good Friday after three days of action that produced 341,809 paid admissions, a new manager in Philadelphia and six men hitting .500 or better.

If there was one development that stood out above all others in the first few days it was recognition that Chuck Dressen had taken a firm hold in Milwaukee.

The appearance of Lew Burdette in the bullpen and the quick hook for Warren Spahn on opening day was a solid hint. As soon as Chuck hit Philadelphia for a weekend series, he announced that Spahn, too, would be in the bullpen if needed against the Phils. Juan Pizarro was out there Thursday.

Philadelphia had its largest opening crowd in two years, 32,038, to see Acting Manager Andy Cohen make the right moves and beat Dressen. Frantic shifting of pitchers and pinch hitters finally brought up Joe Koppe. His single off Johnny Logan's glove won the game in the 10th inning.

Pittsburgh, regarded as a singles-hitting club without much power, led the league with a .333 club batting average, mostly on the strength of the 13-0 romp over Cincinnati Thursday afternoon. Roberto Clemente, the Pirates right-fielder, is way out there with a .714 average and six runs batted in for two games. Dick Groat is hitting .625.

Cal McLish, a 19-game winner at Cleveland last year, failed in his first outing for Cincinnati, lasting less than three innings. However, the Reds are happy with Billy Martin's .500 average and the .429 hitting of rookie Tony Gonzalez, the new right fielder.

San Francisco's new park brought a flurry of conflicting reports. First, the wind was so tricky it was believed that nobody would hit a left field homer. Then Thursday night Ernie Banks hit a grand slammer into the cross wind and over the fence. Willie Mays, incidentally, is rolling along at a .500 clip.

The Chicag Cubs hoped for new power from Frank Thomas and they got a sample. After going hitless in seven trips, Thomas hit a three-run homer off Los Angeles' Larry Sherry Wednesday night and came through with the winning double off the Giants' Billy O'Dell Thursday night.

Los Angeles won a couple of one-run games and was shut out by the Cubs' Glen Hobbie. After the shutout, Manager Walter Alston benched center fielder Don Demeter and called on rookie Tom Davis in a search for more punch.

St. Louis was the only non-winner, dropping three straight, 3-1, 6-1 and 3-2. The pitching wasn't bad, but nobody has been hitting.

OLYMPIC TEAM TEST

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—The U.S. Olympic basketball team will play Cleveland of the National Industrial Basketball League in an exhibition game here Aug. 6, it was announced Friday.

John F. Nagy, chairman of the basketball fund-raising committee for the U.S. team, said the game will be played in the Canton Memorial Auditorium, which seats 4,700.

ADVERTISE — IT PAYS!

CHIEF—Manager Joe Gordon believes the Cleveland Indians have more "big" ballplayers than any other club, sees his charges making a real run for the A.L. pennant.

With The Girl Scouts

Happy Easter to all from the Girl Scouts of Illinois Prairie Council! Local troops are observing Easter in a fine way by making Easter favors for hospitals and nursing homes and many troops in other communities are doing the same thing. This is fine training for the girls and helps them to show the true spirit of Easter.

Among local troops participating in service projects at Easter as reported to the Scout office are: Brownie Troop No. 40 of Jefferson school, Mrs. Robert Beard, leader, who took Easter baskets to the Duncan Nursing home at 615 N. Church street; Brownie Troop No. 60 of Our Saviour's school, Mrs. Paul J. Magner, leader, who made Easter favors for Our Saviour's hospital; Brownie Troop No. 48 of Franklin school, Mrs. W. C. Everett, leader, took favors to Oaklawn Sanatorium; and Troop No. 63, Intermediate Girl Scouts of Jonathan Turner Junior High school with Mrs. Howard Choate as leader took favors to the Lasley Nursing home on West College avenue and also to the Bell Convalescent Home on Jordan street.

Other local troops have been making favors for Passavant hospital each month during the year and have made special efforts to supply Easter favors also.

Cookie Sale

Calls for more cookies kept coming into the office during the cookie sale and so 50 more cartons of cookies were ordered to meet this demand. Now about 30 cartons of these are left to be sold. Some orders are no longer needed and these cookies must move. The week of April 18 to 23 will be cookie week again. We urge leaders to contact especially those girls who are nearly at prize marks of 60, 80 or 100 boxes and they be given a chance to sell. The cookie sale this year exceeded all expectations and each school reported a very successful sale so we know this extra push to sell 360 more boxes will also be met. Congratulations to all on a fine job done.

Monday is the deadline for school cookie money to be deposited at Elliott State Bank from the cookie sale held the first part of April. Money from this week's sale will be due April 30.

Events scheduled for the coming week include two neighborhood meetings and a special meeting of the Camp Committee which will be held Wednesday, April 20, at 9:45 a.m. at the Girl Scout cabin on Lake Jacksonville.

Neighborhood meetings will be held as follows: Scott county neighborhood Wednesday, April 20, at 1:30 p.m. in Winchester and Waverly-Franklin neighborhood at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, April 21, at Waverly.

Public Relations committee of the Board of Directors will meet Thursday at 9:30 a.m. at the office and members of the Program committee will meet at 11:30 a.m. Friday, April 22, at the Dunlap Hotel.

There will be a meeting of mothers of Winchester girls interested in Scouting at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 19, at the Winchester Grade school cafeteria.

Week's Events

Last week there were two neighborhood meetings: Greene County leaders met on Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Ruth Galloway in Roodhouse; Cass County leaders met Thursday morning at the Congregational church in Beardstown.

There was a good attendance of members at the meeting of the Board of Directors held Wednesday at the Scout office. At that time the job of erecting a shelter at Camp Shagbark was awarded to Crawford Lumber company. Construction will begin immediately.

Members of the program committee met Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Scout office to plan for coming spring and fall activities including the observance of the 100th anniversary of Juliette Low's birth in October, 1960.

Some questions have come into the office regarding the pen pal badge in Girl Scouting. Requirements for this badge have been changed to include domestic correspondence and the badge symbol previously used for international correspondence in the same one which will be used for domestic correspondence. Only the requirements have changed for earning the badge. The International Post Box has not been discontinued. Even though this activity does not earn credit for the Pen Pal badge, Girl Scouts are still eager to make friends, through correspondence, with people of other countries. You may see at the office a folder which outlines the procedures to be followed by Girl Scouts wishing to have an International pen friend.

Lafayette Troops

This week we would like to introduce the troops of Lafayette school: there are two Brownie troops registered, No. 52, which has just registered for the third time and No. 83, newly organized last December.

These two troops took part in a pageant of the flag at the February P.T.A. meeting held at the school. Several Cub Scout dens were on the program with them. The Brownies sang several songs and several individual numbers were in the cast of the pageant, representing Miss Hawaii, Miss Alaska, Betsy Ross and others.

Mrs. A. K. Beams, 295 Sandusky, is leader of Troop No. 52 and has been the leader since they were 2nd graders. The girls are now in 4th grade and getting ready at the end of school year to participate in the fly-up ceremony, when they will become Girl Scouts.

Mrs. John Sauerwein, 1034 Dayton, is the assistant leader and was also assistant last year. During the first year of the troop's existence Mrs. Burnell Rentschler was the assistant leader. This year's troop committee is composed of Mrs. Bill Buchanan, 211 N. Prairie street, and Mrs. G. A. Vasconcellos, 1315 W. Lafayette avenue.

Both Mrs. Beams and Mrs. Sauerwein will be moving out of the district this summer so new leaders will be needed for this troop. There are ten girls enrolled and they are all enthusiastic Scouts. They sold 21 cartons of cookies this year and are now planning a trip to a farm. They learned basketry this winter under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Sullivan. During their existence as a Brownie troop they have taken cookies to a nursing home, made gifts for the ladies at the Christian Home and tray favors for Passavant hospital. They have done a lot of handcraft work in addition to these service crafts.

Troop No. 83 is composed of 16 third graders, all of whom first became Brownies last December. Mrs. William Cole, 1122 West State street, is registered as the troop leader. However, Mrs. Cole broke her leg several weeks ago and the assistant leader, Mrs. Howard Walker of 1260 West College avenue, is now the troop leader. Mrs. Walker is also troop organizer for Lafayette school. She also served as school cookie chairman and reports that the troops sold all the cookies allotted them and went back for additional cartons.

Mrs. Walker's assistant leader is Mrs. Russell Walton, 500 Sandusky, who is registered as a troop committee member. Mrs. Albert Hall, 145 Caldwell, and Mrs. Virginia Green, 128 Chestnut, are the other members of the troop committee.

Troop No. 83 has been concentrating on indoor activities since its beginning and has just completed a unit on embroidery, making towels for their mothers. They are now ready to begin outdoor events and are looking forward to camp.

Chicago Conference

The Syncopated Sixties Conference of Senior Girl Scouts held April 8 and 9 in Chicago and attended by Janet Rowe and Betsy Applebee of Troop No. 1 of this Council was a huge gathering of Girl Scouts from councils in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin. The Chicago Council, including 19 districts, was hostess to the conference held at the Congress hotel. Twenty Councils in Illinois sent representatives, eight in Indiana, 14 in Michigan and eight in Wisconsin.

Miss Molly Imlach, assistant information officer of British Information Services was guest speaker at the luncheon on Saturday. Four youth forums were held on Youth in America and Youth Abroad. Moderators of the Forums were Miss Mildred Wyatt, Roy L. Weaver, Rev. Virgil A. Kraft and Mrs. Beatrice Russell.

The girls reported that they had a marvelous time and obtained a new view of the immensity of the Girl Scout program.

CRACKS IN FALLS

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)— Large cracks at the crest of the American Falls have stirred fears of a third major rockslide that could crumble a section about the size of a football field.

The first slide, in 1954, tumbled 185,000 tons of rock over Prospect Point. In 1956, a 120,000-ton slide destroyed most of a power station, killing one man.

THE STORY: Left a widow by Mark's sudden death in a car accident, Rose Holmes is dazed and alone. She feels as if she were in the darkness of a tunnel. But her children must be cared for and Rose asks her daughter Debbie if she would like to go to Renwick, a boarding school in the fall. Rose's mother Ruth tries to console her.

* * *

XII

On the day Ruth left she said to Rose, "You said something about picking up the pieces. Are you?"

"I'm trying."

"But you drop them, don't you? Oh, you're efficient, Rose, and on the outside, quiet. Are you really planning to live alone?"

"Why not? In another year Debbie would be in college anyway, providing she keeps up her grades."

"You know what you want," Ruth said and pushed her hand through her thick, white curls. "I can't advise you. Except—why, when you get the children settled, don't you take a job? I know you weren't trained for anything and married at 19, but there must be things you can do."

"At this point I don't want to do anything other than I'm doing now."

"I understand that. But, later?" She added, "You aren't the only widow in the world, Rose, and you're more fortunate than many. Mark took good care of you and the children. You can, with economizing, live much as you have lived — for quite a while."

"Well, have you considered selling this house? You don't need all the room."

"It isn't a very big house," Rose argued, "just a room apiece —the guest room and the servants' quarters over the garage, which, I admit we don't use."

"There's the land."

Rose felt anger rise in her and was sorry. But no one could comprehend that she felt as if she lacked a skin—aren't you supposed to have seven layers?—one, at least was missing now, as if it had been flayed off. The slightest intimate touch, however well meant, was painful.

She said shortly, "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it."

Ruth was silent. She heard her husband's step in the hall and said, "There's John."

She was careful now not to make a display of the affection she felt for her husband. She said, "When your father died, I couldn't let Gwen take the major burden. I kept on working and thanked God for it."

"Of course," Rose said, indifferent, "the universal panacea."

Ruth got to her feet. She said, "I'm sorry. I didn't mean to hurt you."

"You haven't," Rose said lightly; nor had she really.

* * *

Presently they'd be gone—John and Ruth, Lou and Gwen—but people kept dropping in, so Rose wouldn't be lonely. Would she stop by for a drink—not a party? Would she care to see a movie, lunch in the village, come for dinner?

She had a difficult problem. She could not endure being at home at the time men returned from the city, not that Mark had always caught the same train; but there was always a time when he came as expected—or telephoned, and she waited dinner. She could not sit, or stand, or walk about, write a letter, watch a program or read, without listening for the scatter of gravel beneath the wheels of a car.

Nor could she endure being in another women's house at commuting-train time when another car drove in.

This was the month when, even without a leaf on a tree, you could hear the green whispering within the bough, when the pools of rain water were a bright blue reflection of the sky and the wind-driven clouds went past, assuming new shapes as they went, and she would look up and think—Where are you?

People who had been on cruises returned, others went on one. Her cruise tickets had long since been canceled.

* * *

There is a sort of sisterhood. She hadn't realized how many widows there were in the neighborhood whom she knew well or slightly—young ones like Ellen Howard, whose husband had been a jet pilot; old ones, older than her mother, and those in between. They came to see her if the acquaintance warranted it, and even if it didn't. They "understood" and some of them seemed to take an extraordinary pleasure in describing terminal illnesses. A few sent helpful books.

She read them courteously. Almost everyone, it seemed, had written a book; how-to-do-it-yourself mentally, emotionally, spiritually — clergyman, psychiatrist, psychologist—all their advice was as sound as the ingredients in a recipe. Pray. Forget yourself. Think of other people. Work.

She read the words and comprehended the meaning, because she'd been taught to read as a child. She could comprehend with her intelligence, and she knew every word was true; even the sweetness and light had validity, and certainly the sternness and face up to yourself had. Her mother had said that and her mother knew a great deal, in and out of books.

But they were only words.

What she most looked forward to were the nights.

Bill opened the deuce of spades against the slightly optimistic four heart contract. Declarer ducked and Sam won the trick with the king and considered his next play. A spade return would constitute passive defense but South would have been able to make his contract by coming from dummy with a low diamond and eventually getting rid of dummy's third club on one of his good spades.

However, Sam is not one for passive defense. He decided that a club return was called for. A low club play would have made things easy for South but Sam led the jack. South could have played the king and made the hand but he could not see the East and West hands. He played low and dummy's queen won the trick.

Now South played the deuce of diamonds from dummy and Sam jumped up with the ace and led a second club whereupon Bill's ace and ten set the hand.

How much protein supplement are your growing-fattening pigs eating? From 50 pounds to market weight, pigs on pasture should eat about ½ pound of a 36 to 40 percent supplement daily. Pigs in drylot will need twice that amount.

Groucho Marx is a man who rarely follows anyone else's pattern. And true to this individuality, he is one of the few comedians who has not always longed to do Shakespeare. But Groucho has long had one secret desire . . . to do a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta. And he will finally get that wish when he plays "Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner," in NBC-TV's April 29 Bell Telephone Hour presentation of "The Mikado."

The show marks a departure for Groucho. Although long a TV favorite, this is his first musical play appearance on TV. And for this show, the familiar Groucho leer and ogle, as well as the cigar trademark will be missing. But joining him to take up the slack will be such stellar names as Helen Traubel, Dennis King, Stanley Holloway, Barbara Meister, and Robert Rounseville. When executive producer Barry Wood approached him for the part, Groucho accepted eagerly. And why not? A chance to fulfill his long desire to go Gilbert and Sullivan . . . and a chance to vocalize with Miss Traubel. Says Groucho, with an off-camera leer, "Can you imagine me singing a duet with Helen Traubel?" If you're having "trauble" with your TV set, Shumaker TV & Appliance. Experienced technicians will get that set back into its best working order quickly and dependably. For TV service you can really rely on, it should be done by professional TV repairmen. As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

"Spring," according to the dictionary, means "to arise," "shoot up," "leap," and "bound." But to most of us, "Spring" means nothing like all that vigorous behavior. On the contrary, it's the time of year when even the most active of us wince at even the thought of all those athletics. It's the season of the year when we're stricken with that not-so-dread disease . . . Spring Fever. The reason Spring is called "Spring" is because it's the time of year when the flowers and all start "springing from the earth. Maybe for the plants to "spring," but for most of us poor humans, it's the time of year when we're all "unsprung." Practically all of the poetry ever written about Spring is full of words calculated to make the reader want to "leap" and "bound" around like the dictionary says. Which is fine . . . until it occurs to you that the fellow who wrote these inspiring words was probably flat on his back under a shady tree when he wrote them.

Thugs who held up a Yonkers bank carried the loot off in shopping bags labelled: "First National Bank in Yonkers . . . A Gift for You to Celebrate Our 25th Year." Well, after all, it WAS their Silver Anniversary. If you're having an anniversary soon, celebrate it with a late model used car from E. W. Brown. A good clean used car is an anniversary gift the whole family will enjoy in beauty, comfort, and smooth, trouble-free performance. Come in soon and see our fine selection. E. W.
